THE FOOD FAIR.

Bigger, Busier and Better than Last Year. Better Babies a Feature. Gifts Galore for Everybody. Music and Dancing.

Belfast's second Food Fair was formally opened at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Feb. 10th. The managers, Dr. W. L. West, Orrin J. Dickey, Ralph D. Southworth, E. S. Pitcher and Walter J. Clifford, and the speakers, were on the stage. President West after a few appropriate remarks, welcoming those present and heartily thanking all who had helped to advance the interests of the fair, introduced Hon. John A. Roberts of Norway, Maine Commissioner of Agriculture, who spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure at being present and congratulating the management and people on the hall and its exhibits. He spoke especially of the exhibits of farm products and cooking and of the work of the public school pupils, which is displayed in the annex. Speaking of the changes wrought in the past 50 years in the line of food products he said that we now have at our disposal the products of every zone and climate. Sanitation, and the care with which foods are handled and prepared, is now recognized as of first importance. He invited all his hearers to visit the department of agriculture in August, and in closing pressed the button that turned on the many electric lights furnished by the Penobscot Bay Electric Company.

Morris L. Slugg, president of the Board of Trade, was then introduced and made a telling speech, saying that it was the new ideas and methods that generated enthusiasm, which in turn is the key to success. Mayor Hanson was next introduced and tendered the freedom of the city to all visitors. Dr. West then made numerous announcements, calling attention to the various booths, etc. The decorations, of which Orrin J. Dickey had charge, are generally considered to be better than those of last year. The general color scheme is green, yellow and white, set off with flags, Japanese lanterns and poinsettias. The balcony front is covered with green and white, and at intervals are draped flags alternating with sprays of large green oak leaves relieved by red poinsettias and tied with graceful yellow ribbons. Flags and banners decorate the walls and the ceiling is formed by a canopy effect of Japanese umbrellas and lanterns, all electrically lighted, the strings of lights radiating from the corners and terminating in the center of the ceiling in a huge red lantern. The booths, which occupy all the space under the galleries, are attractively decorated, and are as follows:

THE BOOTHS.
Beginning at the right of the main entrance the booths came in the following order and all were decorated with the prevailing tones of the general decorations, green, yellow and white:

Arey, the candy man, with confectionery in fancy boxes, general candies, and a specialty of Armour's Vim Fizz.
Office of Orrin J. Dickey, Secretary, and the bureau of information.
Clarence L. Pratt of East Weymouth, Mass., Kewpies, and stuffed toys and sofa pillows laid in the week.
Pearl Brook Farm cigars, under the direction of Wm. H. Quimby. This is an exhibit of great interest and local pride. The display includes the seeds, pictures of the cultivation, growth, etc., the dried tobacco and boxes of the Pearl Brook cigars.
Madam Mona, the local fortune teller, with her native costume and talent.
The Kellogg Toasted Cornflake booth, with advertising decorations in charge of T. C. Boerner, Jr.

The "Quick Lunch" booth with oriental decorations, presided over by two Belfast ladies.

Goodhue & Co. display an expensive bath room outfit, one of less cost, a heater and various other household appliances.
On the right of the stage was the New England Cooking school, A. A. Howes & Co. furnishing the material, under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Rowell of Auburn, assisted by Mrs. W. G. Sawtelle of Auburn, formerly of Belfast.

In the center of the stage is the large display of the Penobscot Bay Electric Co. with its red flash light sign, the center of attraction from all parts of the hall. The exhibit includes all the latest appliances in electricity, with Mr. Walter Booker in charge.
On the left and rear of the electric company Carle & Jones have a fine display of Edison phonographs and records, with Roy Ellingwood in charge.

On the right front of the stage J. L. Sleeper & Co. have a green and white canopy booth with Mrs. Sleeper in charge, to exhibit the Victor talking machines and records.
Next is the Town Talk flour booth in charge of Julian H. Merrill of Eastport, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Jones, demonstrator.

The Moxie booth, in charge of W. E. St. Johns of Boston, has advertising decorations.
The Home Furnishing Co., exhibits the Crawford range and useful utensils, Ethel Willey demonstrating.
In an attractively decorated booth Miss Eva L. Holmes has a miniature parlor and demonstrates her hair work, etc., assisted by Mrs. Elmer Mason.

Shiro's booth is prettily decorated and advertises his ice cream and confectionery business. He is assisted by Misses Katherine E. Brier of this city and Kate H. Clark of Manset.
The Feather Mattress Company has the last booth under the left balcony, in charge of W. G. Dyer of Brooks.

The Converse Rubber Company of Boston occupies the front center space with an attractive display of goods in charge of Patterson & Hammons.
First on the right of the center is a wire jewelry display by Mrs. Grace L. Conning of Boston.

The pop corn booth is in charge of Rex Havenor and does not fail to see the original and useful ideas of Walter Booker in using electricity for motive power and in popping the corn.
The Bernard Bernbaum Montana diamond display is in charge of J. D. Harris of Boston. First at the left of the center is the household utensil display by E. T. Fox of Sargentville.

THE BETTER BABIES.
The ladies room is devoted to the Better Baby Show, where 14 of the little ones will be examined every morning by Dr. Carle Stevens and Foster C. Small. The Tuesday's babies were entered as follows:

VETERANS DAY.
Tuesday was Grand Army Day, and all wearing the little bronze button were special guests of the management. Capt. John O. Johnson of Liberty spoke for the Navy and Alfred Stinson of North Searport for the Army. Both have written extensively of their experiences, and are also entertaining speakers, and their five-minute addresses were much enjoyed.

THE PRIZE POSTERS.
Mrs. Edward R. Pierce and Mrs. E. D. Tapley awarded the prizes for the best advertising posters, the work of pupils in the public schools, as follows: Laura C. Morris, 1st; Theodore C. Bramhall, 2nd; Harry L. Jones, 3rd. Honorable mention was made of the posters of Doris L. Gainsbury, Dorothy Merchant and one without the author's name, containing cream of wheat, corn, bowl and spoon, also an apple and a pear. The prizes were $5, $3 and $2.

IN THE ANNEX.
This year additional space was secured by utilizing the annex, in which there is an interesting agricultural and industrial exhibit. A display of fancy work contributed by ladies of the city and county includes crochet, embroidery, etc., and many novelties. There are also some fine rugs, both braided and hooked, and several silk quilts. Mrs. C. B. Thompson has a fine and varied display of canned fruits, vegetables and meats, and Mr. Thompson a very creditable showing of fruits and vegetables, including a mammoth pumpkin. Harry W. Littlefield of Brooks has a fine display of apples, including four boxes packed and labelled in western style and 15 plates of different varieties. An exhibit of cooked food is attractive. An interesting exhibit is the work done in the drawing classes in the various grades of the public schools. It includes paper cutting, lettering, water color work, rug designing, etc., and is both interesting and creditable to teacher and pupils. The Pierce-Billings Co. has a fine display of men's coats, ranging from macinaw to dress suit coats. Charles R. Combs has an interesting taxidermist exhibit. I. W. Parker, who retired from business as a builder several years ago, builds a rowboat each winter as "knitting work," and it is largely a labor of love, the material and workmanship are of the best. He has his latest creation in this line on exhibition and it attracts much attention.

FAIR NOTES.
Wednesday was "Old Folks" day and prizes were awarded.
Arthur F. Johnson will be soloist this, Thursday, afternoon and evening.
There were more paid admissions in the Fair of 1914 than in that of 1913.
Miss Marian Wells will be the soloist tomorrow, Friday, afternoon and evening.
Thursday is Grange day, Friday is children's day, and Saturday everybody's day. All come!
Miss Isabel M. Smalley is assisting in the annex display, which is one of the chief attractions.

Mrs. Thomas E. Bowker was soloist Wednesday afternoon and evening and was heard with much pleasure.
Frank Mudgett has taken a part of the Montana diamond booth and will run a candy wheel for the remainder of the week.
Charles A. Townsend took views of the hall Tuesday about 10 o'clock a. m., and excellent cards were ready for sale before 3 p. m.

A conservative estimate placed the attendance Tuesday at 1,800, including the special guests, the members of the G. A. R. bodies.
A pleasing feature of Tuesday evening's concert was the trombone and cornet duet by Messrs. Drinkwater and Welch of the orchestra.
Keyes orchestra of ten pieces occupies a prettily decorated booth in the center gallery and plays during the day and for the dances in the evening.

The first fifty ladies to enter the hall each admission will receive gifts, and the prizes drawn by ticket coupons are distributed at 4 and 9 o'clock p. m.
Clara May, the attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sawtelle of Auburn, formerly of Belfast, assists at the cooking school in distributing samples.

Mrs. A. L. Edwards, Mrs. William H. Bray and Mrs. Amos H. Colcord were made judges Wednesday for the Better Babies contest. The cups will be awarded later in the week.

The dance Tuesday evening under the direction of Fred G. Spinney and Henry Mudgett was very successful and well attended. Henry Mudgett directed Wednesday evening in the absence of Mr. Spinney.

A telegram was received Tuesday from Roy C. Haines conveying the congratulations of the Ellsworth Board of Trade and wishing abundant success to the Belfast Food Fair of 1914.

Harley Godfrey is acting as assistant secretary; Wm. H. Dickey and Arthur Dinamore are in charge of the floor; Frank I. Wilson sells tickets; Renworth Rogers tends door, and John T. McDonald is the fair carpenter.

A JUVENILE MASQUERADE.

In which a Dancing Class and Kindergarten Take Part.

Miss Marian Lambert's dancing class celebrated the close of their first term of instruction last Saturday evening, when they gave a masquerade dancing party in Odd Fellows hall. They were assisted by Miss Lambert's kindergarten pupils, also in masquerade costume. The hall was well filled with parents, relatives and interested friends when the grand march began, and everybody present thoroughly enjoyed the unique and pretty spectacle. The costumes were all carefully prepared and effective, and the young people, varying in age from seven to fourteen, went through the evolutions of their march in a very creditable manner. At its close a circle was made, and the ladies in turn were unmasked and chose one of the young ladies, who was also unmasked before she was led to her seat. The march of the kindergarten tota was one of the features of the evening, and was a delight to all present. It was led by Miss Elana Shute in the costume of a fairy, and Master Richard Cheney as a cowboy. They were followed by Robert Johnson in Indian costume, and another cowboy, John Vickery. Danford Adams, as Geo. Washington in colonial small clothes, Miss Wilda Drury as Springfield Thomas Wadsworth in khaki soldier uniform were the others. They carried wands with paper streamers and their little drill was finely executed. The young people in the dancing class then danced the various dances they have learned, acquitting themselves finely, and reflecting much credit on Miss Lambert, who has been assisted by Miss Louise J. Read. Ice cream was served at intermission by Shiro. Music was furnished by the Misses Gurney.

The characters represented were as follows: Willard Jenny, Yankee Doodle; Julia Littlefield Grecian girl; William Lunt, George Washington; Barbara McKenney, Dutch peasant; Carrol Parker, clown; Dana Fattae, college student; Carleton Read, jester; Katherine Brown, Watteau shepherdess; Louise Clement, heart girl; Margaret Cheney, Bo Peep; Lina Consans, Martha Washington; Ruth Dinamore, Quaker girl; Hope Dorman, Martha Washington; Charlotte Wadsworth, Grecian girl; Dorothy Drinkwater, American girl; John and Tolford Durham, sailor boys; Gretchen Fletcher, who was to have re, resented Folly, was ill and unable to be present. Of the kindergarten children, Isabelle Combs, who was to have been Red Ridinghood, was absent, and Edward Poor was unable to be present on account of illness. Thomas Wadsworth is not a member of the kindergarten class, but assisted in the drill.

Oregon Teachers' Association.

To THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL. President Ackerman began the work by telling us that the object of the meeting was to outline educational work, both legislative and practical. There is a demand for certain kinds of knowledge. The work must pass through an experimental stage before we can reach a conclusion. Manufacturers have declared that manual training in the schools is a failure. They say the work must be taught by vocational people. The work is in an experimental stage and the problem must be solved by the schools. We must attack one big problem each year and make sure that we solve it.

It would be well to appoint a finance committee to study methods in other States and report one year from now. We can survey our own school system better than a man from some other State. After we thoroughly examine these problems, the Legislature will listen to us in the future as they have in the past. Let us be a working body and not a talking body. It is our own fault if we do not impress ourselves upon the press. We should make our influence so felt that this room would be filled with newspaper reporters. It took three days at Salt Lake City to decide the question of certification. Leaders of Departments should furnish summary of work done for the press.

Supt. Churchill told us that ten years ago there were not twenty high schools in the State, while now there are one hundred fifty, and four hundred are doing some high school work. School money is now voted much more freely than formerly. There are thirty-one States raising less school money than Oregon. The rural school problem is the one now most urgently demanding our attention. The Parent-Teacher Association is one of the most important factors in solving this problem. They should be organized in every district of the State. A suggestive program is to be sent to every community and we hope that officials will help to promote the work.

Premiums offered by corn clubs, cooking clubs and others will aid the work. Ideas of country life will be raised. A great weakness of country schools is lack of supervision. The State will be asked for $50,000 to be placed in the hands of the State Board of Education. With this money twenty or twenty-five experts in educational work may be secured wherever they may be found. Then when a county superintendent needs assistance he can send to the State Department for it.

A majority of teachers are already doing satisfactory work but a sufficient number of thoroughly qualified teachers to fill all the positions are not to be had at the present time. These expert assistants, under the direction of the county superintendent, could help with social center work and parent-teacher associations. Not more than twenty or thirty per cent of the teachers would need assistance and an expert could be kept in each county six or eight months in the year, under the direction of the county superintendent. As teachers improve the necessity of this form of supervision will diminish. After 1915 none can be certified to teach in the State of Oregon without some professional training. There ought to be no opposition to this method, as it is an attempt to give the greatest possible degree of efficiency to all schools.

President Campbell of the University of Oregon talked of the hardships our ancestors have passed through and compared our present favorable condition with theirs. He thought the proportion of leisure time would increase more and more as we improve our methods. He spoke of the inability of a fertile soil to produce ideal conditions without intelligence, as witnessed in Mexico. He thought the vital problem for us to solve is how to improve our leisure as a greater proportion of leisure time spent in dissipation would prove an injury. As rational creatures we must have a comprehensive theory of life. We must have productive industries and we must have pleasures derived from literature, art, history and all intellectual and moral sources. We must cooperate in socialization as well as in industry. It is the more social animals which survive while the more fierce diminish. The same is true of man.

"We must try to come into possession of a moral universe, a rational universe. Are we materialists or idealists? What is our controlling principle? Is this universe the product of a central mind? Is that mind benevolent or malevolent? A knowledge of the fatherhood of God and the experience of our ancestors in matters social, industrial and governmental is our heritage. Believing in the future of this Christian democracy we should strive to assimilate the spirit and genius of our country. Our glorious freedom fosters the unrestricted development of talent and we should seek perfection as our goal."

J. Percy Wells, the President of the Association for the coming year, spoke of farming and home-making as a great question before us. He said that two-thirds of our present population live in cities. The raising of crops on virgin soil has been an easy matter. Now as the soil becomes depleted the school must take an interest in its renovation. When we compare the unattractive conditions found in the country with the luxury of the city, is it any wonder that the majority live in the city? Our school work must be made more practical. There is as much culture in making a graduation dress as writing a graduation oration. Pupils should become as much interested in the production of aprons and squashes as they are in books. The soil can be more than doubled in productivity, and the schools can bring it about. This means better living and more leisure. There should be a workshop and kitchen, with a teacher qualified to preside without chaining pupils to the desk. This is a much simpler task than the city problem where children are massed together by the thousand.

Makes Old People Strong and Well

We want to get the news to all old people about Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion, a remarkable new food-medicine which we firmly believe is the best remedy ever made to overcome the weakening, debilitating effects of increasing old age. It helps to rebuild wasted tissues, strengthens the nerves, and gives new energy and a lively feeling to the body. It contains no alcohol or dangerous drug. It may not make you feel better for a few days, but if you do not feel much better and stronger before you have taken a quarter as much as you have of other medicines that have not helped you, we will gladly give back your money.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion contains pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites, which, though they have long been endorsed by successful physicians are here for the first time combined. The result is a real body, nerve and blood-building food-medicine that we believe is superior to anything else in overcoming debility, weakness and liability to disease, and to tone and strengthen the nerves and run down the blood. You who are weak and run down—you who are often troubled by various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. It is a sensible, pleasant-tasting aid to renewed strength, better spirit, glowing health. If it doesn't help you, come and tell us and we will give back your money without a word. That is how much faith we have in it. Sold only at the 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only at the $1.00—City Drug Store, Edmund Wilson Proprietor, Belfast, Maine.

Supt. Churchill said that low salary is one of the defects of our educational system. Good teachers are always called away by higher salary elsewhere. He discussed the industrial fair movement, which is deserving of more attention.

Dr. Calvin S. White discusses the Sex Hygiene question. He said that workers in this field need more thorough preparation than in any other; that owing to the inefficiency of the work absolutely no progress has thus far been made against the spread of venereal disease. No suitable text book has thus far been produced. People are so shocked at the investigation of these subjects that they prefer to remain in ignorance. He said that it is a criminal ignorance, and that the temperance taught in our text books is so exaggerated as to make it worthless. Let us have the truth and nothing but the truth. Sex Hygiene is the most important subject taught in the high school, but the book taught should be as scientifically correct as the one taught in a medical college. Numerous vocations are taught in school, but the one most important, the one more nearly allied to all people, that of parenthood, is neglected. The original plan of creation is overlooked. Do not send out untrained teachers to deal with this problem.

President Foster of Reed College said that however anxious the home and church had been to bring up the children in blessed innocence there was evidence that they got information from foul sources. The agencies which should be interested have been silent. Novels dealing with these subjects in an improper manner have the largest sale. Plays and moving pictures dealing with the white slave traffic are the most popular. Ten years ago it would have been impossible to speak on these subjects, but today the church, the school and the home must accept the responsibility. We have at present no suitable books on these subjects, but in the present emergency must use such as are least bad.

President Kerr of the Oregon Agricultural college told us that education has in the past served the few rather than the many. Nine-tenths of our people are pursuing industrial occupations. Our school work was so thoroughly cultural that manual training was first defended on ground of cultural value. Now it is becoming of practical value. Overloaded teachers tend to be superficial. We are slow to eliminate valueless material.

In our efforts to build up industrial education we must not lose sight of the fundamentals. The responsibilities of citizenship demand culture as well as ability to use the hands. Experts with broad perspective must cull out non-essentials to make room for the new demands. Elementary school work may be completed in six years instead of eight. Domestic science and agriculture may be made as scientific, cultural and pedagogical as any study. Teachers occupy their positions for too short a period and are without suitable qualifications or assistance. Expert supervision is essential in rural schools. We have grown away from the idea that school is only for the children. It is for the community and should produce the highest type of citizenship.

President Foster of Reed College told us that social evolution is bringing the teaching profession into greater prominence than ever before. It is a call to us to look for a wider horizon. Girls in factories are not doing machines, but are better paid than many teachers. Teaching as a trade is dull and unimportant. As a profession, it seeks to serve. There are few traders in the teaching profession. Our greatest reward comes from a consciousness of performing a service to humanity. The teacher who influences boys not to go into teaching because of its scanty reward is not worthy the profession.

Scientific education is in its infancy. The teacher is not much better off than the doctor was when anyone could practice medicine. The highest man in the calling is the one who does not regard money. Democracy is an experiment. Its success depends upon how well we as teachers do our work.

Whatever the cost of an undertaking, the fond parent promptly says it is not too much if it is for my boy. The teacher must expand with the growing needs of the age as well as dwell apart a while with some great mind of the past. Our happiness depends upon our attitude. Enthusiasm is contagious. Ours is to labor on with eyes fixed on our ideal.

M. V. O'Shea from the University of Wisconsin told us that an inevitable crucial hour for teachers is approaching. He compared the training of children to the work of Burbank in eliminating the spine from the cactus. "It is our task to make the boy forget the memories of his ancient ancestors. Like the caterpillar he must pass through the different stages of development. As we watch the kitten play we see it living again the memories of ancestors stealing upon its prey. Among the puppies we hear something of the primitive savage growl. There is a constant conflict between mature and immature people. The mother wants it quiet and constantly is saying don't to the noisy children who are constantly reproducing the savagery of their remote ancestors."

The mother does not need food to supply the needs of a growing body, so much of her energy is spent on fine table linen and expensive silver ware, while all the boys care for is the food to build up their bodies. It does not affect a boy to stand on his head as it does a grown person. A boy must get his abstract ideas by examination or experiment. He admires a mud puddle about as much as a parlor. If the boy hasn't washed his hands, neither did his remote ancestors. To attempt to violate nature is an injury. We must aid and improve nature by variation and not by destruction. It is better to change a boy's course by the nape of the neck than appeal to shame.

It is right for the adult to have refined feelings, but they are to be found in children no more than in our savage ancestors. The essential activity of aboriginal man was to fight his way. Combativity was the goodness which was automatic, almost instinctive. The only way boys can visit is with their muscles. If they appear cruel, their energies should be directed into some other channel, but not stopped. Boys use an earlier type of language which is strong and dynamic. Half the college speech has not got into the dictionary. The profoundest thing in life is the emotions. When note writing breaks out in school, the thing to do is, not to stop it but to show to what it leads. The greatest stimulus to morality is to give children some living thing to care for, something that will suffer by their neglect.

That mortal mind which has none other to share its conflicts with must break sooner or later. Some will say those boys parading as Indians ought to be run off the street. But youth restrained is ten times worse. It must be directed.

The State Teachers' Association seems to stand for a thorough organization that will reach every individual in the State, a practical vocational training that will enable the pupils to do things, a thorough supervision that will bring all schools up to the highest standard and the infusion of a moral and religious element that will give vitality to the system. As Dr. White condemns our psychology for telling half truths in regard to sex hygiene and exaggeration of the intelligence question, so our psychology may be condemned from straying from the original simplicity of Webster when mind was that part of man which thinks, reasons and feels.

Mind is coming to exist only in its activities. Next our bodies will exist only in their activities. I submit to a thinking public whether all this modern progress has been made by the brain of man or by a thinking, reasoning, feeling being which acts through the brain as the most delicate organ of the body, and that most closely allied with creative energy. There is power in man to discover energies and forces in nature and to apply them to practical purposes.

It is the brain, the activities of atoms of matter, which makes these discoveries, or is it in the heaven-born genius which plays back of these molecules of matter arranged in the delicate tissues of the brain?

Who that knows the power of true love can say that it originates in the brain. Admirable and undesirable qualities of soul shine out through bodily activities. If we say that the mind is made up of thoughts, feelings, emotions and memories, by what force were these elements of mind generated? Are the plans of all our great productive industries the spontaneous production of brain activity or are they worked out by human minds following the same line of thought which has fashioned nature from the beginning? GEO. M. COLE.

A 30th Wedding Anniversary.

January 30th was the 30th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henry Small of Sunset and their many friends concluded to give them a party in honor of the occasion. On hearing a rap on the door Mr. Small proceeded to open, when he was greeted by a large crowd which had come to spend a time of rejoicing with the happy couple who had spent 30 years of life together. The guests were heartily welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Small. The gentlemen passed the time with a game of 63, while some of the ladies engaged in whist and others tried the old game of checkers. Many stories were told by the ladies, and the incidents related by Mr. Small's mother, a lady of 83 years, were very interesting. At 9 o'clock candy and apples were passed around, after which more story telling followed.

Minutes Mean Dollars IN TREATING ANIMALS

Don't lose your money in the treatment of your animals. You also realize that wrongly applied remedies are often worse than no treatment at all. In other words, not to diagnose a disease accurately may prove fatal. Every owner should be able to recognize an ailment and give correct treatment at the first symptoms. Prompt action is the great secret of treating horses. Minutes mean dollars. Of course proper treatment is always necessary. That is just how Humphrey's 300 page Veterinary Manual will prove so valuable to you. It is by F. Humphrey, M.D., V.S., and teaches how to diagnose and give proper treatment. This book will save you hundreds of dollars and costs you nothing. It will be sent absolutely free on request to any farmer in order to introduce Humphrey's Veterinary Remedies. Remember, it is absolutely free. You do not have to order any remedies to secure the book. Address, Humphrey's Remedies, 124 William Street, New York City. This is a splendid opportunity to obtain a veterinary treatise that you should have in your library. It is a reference work you will find invaluable. To have it in the time of need will save many dollars, whereas it will cost you but a word or two by writing for it now.

ADVANCE FASHIONS.

Attractive Fifth Avenue Styles. Spring Suits. Hats of Moire, Taffeta and Tagal Braids. Georgette Sailors.

[Correspondence of The Journal.] NEW YORK, Feb. 9, 1914. Things are humming in the fashionable world, and nearly all the advance sartorial models have been launched at exclusive establishments whose patrons demand the latest and smartest creations. Fifth Avenue rivals the Rue-de-la-Paix in Paris as a centre where women go to find artistic productions. The greater number of the styles originated in Paris, but the most successful have been modified to make them practical for the demands of women here. The American point of view is quite different from the Parisian. The majority of the best dressed women here want clothes that will not only look attractive but last well, and give enough service to make them worth while.

ADAPTABLE STYLES. The multiplicity of advanced models shown for present and coming wear, gives every type of woman a chance to secure style and becomingness in her selections. A few pieces, if well chosen, can be made to afford considerable variety. A woman going down to Aiken for a short stay made her purchases with an eye to their usefulness here during the spring and summer. Her suit was of dark powder blue broadcloth, with one of the little, odd slashed coats, short and cut away in front, and with a longer back. The only ornamental feature outside of the crystal buttons, was a vest of white pique. Blue, by the way, will be exceedingly popular, especially in the dull, soft shades, known as "petroleum" or "powder" blues.

AN AFTERNOON DRESS. An afternoon gown was of changeable blue and black taffeta, made with a prettily draped skirt, with the fashionable over tunic arranged so that it could be worn or not as desired. Straps of the silk in bretelle shape, running over the shoulder and fastening at the waist front and back, were also adjustable, and a little monkey jacket in blouse form could be worn with its matching skirt, with the cloth skirt, or with several cotton frocks and skirts in this outfit.

A PRETTY BLOUSE. A blouse of blue chiffon over white net, the long shoulder continued into the sleeve, had cordings of black satin and frills of white net hemstitched in black. Another blouse of shadow lace made up on kimona lines over a plain net lining, had touches of grass green chiffon in little hemstitched revers, and sleeve cuffs. Both combined perfectly with either dress, and a taffeta skirt blouse in maize yellow made still another complete change in the effect of the suits. A skirt of tiny black and white check, with a few washable voile blouses, and a couple of dancing frocks, and a sport coat of yellow duvetyne completed an outfit that would meet the needs of the trip and last over well. The same idea could be carried out in any desired color tone, care being always taken that the shades all harmonized.

SMALL HATS AND THEIR TRIMMINGS. Small shapes rule in the new showing and great use is made of black moire silk and ribbon. As usual at this season hats built of taffeta are smartly worn, but those of moire, either all silk or combined with Tagal braids, are among the smartest models. Hats of black straw with high side flaring brims, or in round turban shapes have trimmings of moire ribbon and a melange of color added in small but vividly colored flowers. The new Georgette sailor suggests a small Derby in shape, and has the crown completely covered by little frills of 3-4 inch black moire ribbon. An outing hat of white corduroy was to go with a belted coat of soft black and white and checked wool with bars of scarlet, or yellow in its design. This hat was without trimming, save for a stiff little up-standing end of the material caught to the middle front of the soft crown by a large jet cabochon. VERONA CLARKE.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

RECENT DEATHS.

Hezekiah Lunt, Sr., died Jan. 29th at his home in Frenchboro after a long illness, aged 80 years and 6 months. He was the oldest citizen of the island, and a veteran of the Civil War. He was a good neighbor and a member of the church. He left Frenchboro as a young man, moving to Bluehill, from there to Grand Manan, and then back to Frenchboro thirty years ago. He leaves a widow, five sons and six daughters—Mrs. Lizzie Thurlow, Mrs. Sabra A. Rice, Mrs. Flora A. Rice, Mrs. Mary S. Lunt, Mrs. Asenath Wallace, Mrs. Cora Richards, Calvin B., Charles K., Edwin S., Hezekiah and Glendon L. He had twenty-seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Edwin L. Ladd died Feb. 3d at his home in Oakland, aged 75 years. He had been in feeble health for some time, but the immediate cause of his death was heart failure. Mr. Ladd was a veteran of the Civil War, having served in the 1st Maine Heavy Artillery, Co. G, and was formerly a member of Cyrus M. Williams Post, No. 141, G. A. R., of Mt. Vernon. He is survived by a wife; by four sons, Stephen of Mercer, Eugene of Augusta, Warren of Winslow and Jesse of Vienna; and by three daughters, Mrs. Annie Sherman, Mrs. Elsie Trask and Mrs. Emma Allen.

Mrs. Z. L. Downs of Swanville died Feb. 3d in Searsport, where she was spending the winter, at the age of 82 years, 6 months and 6 days. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Martha Hartshorn; two grandchildren, Zenas D. Hartshorn of Searsport and Mrs. A. P. Moore of Swanville; also one great-granddaughter, Martha Esther Hartshorn. The funeral was held in the church in Swanville February 5th.

Rev. John W. Webster, past department commander of the Grand Army and former member of the Maine legislature, died Feb. 4th at his home at Pine Point. He was born in Manchester, N. H., 66 years ago, and preached in the Union church at Newport, Me., for over 20 years. He served three years in the Civil War with the 16th Maine Regiment.

David D. Chase of Rockland, who had superintended the blacksmith work on more than 50 vessels, died Feb. 4th, aged 78. He was a native of Bucksport and is survived by three children, ex-Alderman Leon A. Chase, Mrs. Austin Smith and Joseph Chase of Pittsburg.

We heard a man say the other morning that the abbreviation for February—Feb.—means FREEZE EVERY BODY, and that man looks like it. It was apparent that he needed the kind of warmth that stays, the warmth that reaches from head to foot, all over the body. We could have told him from personal knowledge that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives permanent warmth, it invigorates the blood and speeds it along through artery and vein, and really fits men and women, boys and girls, to resist the attacks of disease. It gives the right kind of warmth, stimulates and strengthens at the same time, and all its benefits are lasting. There may be a suggestion in this for you.

An Agricultural School.

University of Maine Extension Service Interested Many Farmers.

The agricultural school conducted by the University of Maine in Equity Grange Hall, Belfast, Jan. 29th, 30th and 31st, was markedly successful. The average attendance for all six sessions was 40; 68 people attended the special evening meeting Friday, and 69 different people registered at the school. Local arrangements were looked after by a committee composed of J. A. Sanker, J. H. Morris, L. P. Miller and F. L. Toothaker, and special credit for the school is due Mr. Sanker. The school work was in charge of Professor R. W. Redman, assistant director of agricultural extension service, assisted by A. L. Deering and M. D. Jones, directors of farm demonstration work in Kennebec and Penobscot counties. Feeding the Dairy, was the chief topic of the school and the following program was carried out:

FIRST DAY.

Animal Industry School. 1. Feeding of Animals. 9 a. m.—Lecture, Feeding stuffs (15 minutes devoted to requirements of feeds for animal breeds; 25 minutes to market price vs. feeding value). 2. Examination of Concentrates—Become familiar with composition. Separate small samples (1 oz.) into component parts. Use dissecting microscope. Pick out hulls, weed seeds, foreign matter. Determine per cent. of undesirable material. 3. Examination of roughages—Hay, straw, silage, corn fodder, Hungarian millet, oat and pea hay, clover, etc.

1. P. M.—Lecture (10 minutes). Physical factors in ration. (Bulk, palatableness, succulence, digestibility). 2. Practical work in computation of specimen rations.

SECOND DAY.

9 a. m.—Lecture, Food requirements of dairy cattle, sheep, horses and swine. 2. Computation of rations now in use by members of school. 1. p. m.—Discussion. Rations now in use by members of school.

THIRD DAY.

9 a. m.—Lectures and discussions: 1. Local Breeders' Associations and their work. 2. Dairy herd management. 3. Cropping systems for dairy farmers. 12 m.—Lectures and discussions: 1. Soil crops and systems. 2. Soil fertility problems of the dairy farm. Friday evening a special meeting was held with the following program:

1. Demonstration of milk testing for fat. 2. Orchard spraying—does it pay? For what and when to spray. 3. Poultry management.

This meeting was very informal and many questions were asked. Twenty-eight samples of milk were tested. The members of the school were very enthusiastic about the work and held many lively discussions. Dinners were served by the women, and the noon hour gave opportunity for social arguments on dairy problems.

Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Elms; Albert Miller, Ray Dyer, Levi Campbell, Edward Littlefield, Chas. Simmons, Ralph Hayford, Freeman Wentworth, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Toothaker, B. B. THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md.—"I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadfully from nervous pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until I was without a cramp, and another person, it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the best of health."—Mrs. AUGUST W. KONDNER, 1832 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) LYNN, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

SUBSCRIPTION TERMS. In advance, $2.00 a year; $1.00 for six months; 50 cents for three months.

Twenty divorces were decreed at the January term of the S. J. Court in Rockland.

John A. (not John L.) Sullivan has been appointed corporation counsel for the city of Boston. The salary is $9,000 a year.

The mayor says that when a boy he "fished for founders on our bridge." He has since been mostly engaged in fishing for suckers.

During the past year not a single sailing ship of any dimensions was built in Great Britain. Well, they cannot lay that to Republican legislation.

In reviewing the Berry case the Bridgton News remarks: "The recall of Judges doctrine of the last campaign is likely to be more popular this year than last."

A man named Worst is a candidate for the Senate in North Dakota.—Boston Globe.

That's nothing. A man named Hanson is a candidate for mayor of Belfast.

Former United States Senator Joseph E. Bailey in a recent address said: "The boss is better than the demagogue, because it is easier to get rid of him." But suppose the boss and the demagogue are combined in one individual, what then?

On another page will be found mention of a movement for the State-wide development of Maine, and in furtherance of this laudable object a meeting of all interested will be held in Augusta Feb. 27th. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held and good speakers will be in attendance.

The mayor's only speech is showing signs of wear and tear. It is so threadbare in spots that you can see through it, as through a fabric eaten by lice. The gliding has worn off the halo he bestows upon himself, showing the brass of which it is composed; and, to make matters worse, the "organ" accompaniment is sadly out of tune.

The Maine Farmer has got back to its old form, which no doubt will be more acceptable to its readers, and the edition last week was twelve large pages, filled with live and interesting matter to Maine farmers and their families. The writer was a reader of the Maine Farmer in early boyhood, has known personally many of its editors, and has always been interested in its success.

It is unfortunate that outsiders having no knowledge of conditions here should undertake to state the issues involved in our coming municipal election. A Maine paper says that Hon. Robert F. Dunton has been selected by the Democrats to "re-buke Mayor Hanson for his stand against Wm. R. Pattangall in the last Congressional campaign." This is not true. Mr. Dunton would not accept the nomination unless assured that both Republicans and Democrats wished him to head a ticket which should represent the business and property interests as opposed to a continuance of present conditions; and it is certainly a time when party feeling should be laid aside for the good of the whole community.

President Wilson departed from his do-nothing Mexican policy last week by raising the embargo on the exportation from the United States to Mexico of arms and munitions of war, and the following headlines from the Boston Globe, a supporter of the administration, show how the order is regarded. "President's act expected to aid Mexican Rebels. Americans flee Mexico City when news is received." The newspapers at the City of Mexico call President Wilson the "friend and accomplice of bandits" and an "exponent of commercialism." Of course subjects of munitions of war to the rebels began as soon as the President's order was promulgated. The worst feature of the Mexican affair, however, is the failure of this government to afford protection to Americans and their property in Mexico.

We agree with our always interesting and well-informed correspondent, Mr. C. E. Smith, that it is both wise and patriotic to make the best of the situation under Democratic legislation; to give home manufacturers the preference, and to hope for the best, even if we are fearing the worst. As to Wannamaker, he is not only a large importer but has interests in several foreign mills, and for business reasons would prefer to buy foreign goods cheap. He was in President Harrison's cabinet and in a recent speech said that he urged Mr. Harrison to advocate a revision of the tariff downward. The Democrats revised it downward under Cleveland, and the world knows the result. Under McKinley the tariff was revised upwards, and the nation for many years enjoyed the greatest prosperity ever known.

The Democrats were let alone apparently because the speakers, including Mr. Perkins, Walter C. Emerson, Matthew Hale of Massachusetts, Rev. H. F. Dunne, Frank L. Dingley, A. C. Wheeler, Rev. Dr. Pickard and H. P. Gardner felt that the Republican party was the enemy immediately in front of them, and that the defeat of that enemy was a sort of religious duty.

This is what the Portland correspondent of the Bangor Commercial says of the Progressive banquet in Portland last week. It is practically an admission that the Progressive leaders in this State are working in the interest of the Democratic party, and which for some time has been a self evident fact. The Mr. Perkins mentioned is a man who as a trust magnate became a multi-millionaire and he is now engaged in financing those who are seeking to destroy the Republican party, under which this country enjoyed the greatest prosperity it has ever known and greater than any other country has enjoyed since the world was created.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Ann Augusta Jackman, widow of the late Reuben Jackman and eldest child of the late Jesse and Hannah Carrol Robbins, passed away at the home of her daughter in Dover, N. H. on the evening of Jan. 31. She was the last surviving member of her father's large family and was in her 83rd year. She was born in Union, Me. but moved with the family when she was eleven years of age to the farm on the Robbins road where she attended school in the Piche district and will be remembered by some of the old residents there. In early life she married Reuben Jackman of Newburyport, and went there and at Ipswich, Mass., where she with her husband managed the Cross farm for more than forty years. Her husband passed away eight years ago and since then she had made her home with relatives. She is survived by one daughter, by five grandchildren and several nephews and nieces. The remains were brought to Newburyport, Feb. 3d, and services held in the historic old North church where the family had formerly owned a pew. The service was largely attended by relatives and old friends and the many beautiful flowers testified to the love and esteem for the deceased.

Angier W. Tapley, whose father was one of the famous mariner family of Tapleys of West Brooksville, Me., died recently in Portland, Me., while in the employ of the Lighthouse Service as mate on the tender Hibiscus. He was with his uncle, Capt. Geo. H. Tapley, from his 16th to his 22d year. A better opportunity to become a seaman could not be imagined than that embraced by those who were fortunate enough to ship under this natural born sailor. As a consequence, the Lighthouse Service lost a valuable officer when Angier Tapley died. There wasn't a more sincere mourner in the little village of West Brooksville, at the bier of the deceased, than his former shipmate and uncle, Capt. Geo. H. Tapley, who is the last living of that coterie of brothers, eight in number, seven of whom in their day had commanded sailing vessels on voyages through all of the seven seas, and to all the important seaports in the world. The writer learned of "reef, hand and steer" under four of them, and we know whereof we speak when we state that as seamen, navigators, husbands and fathers they had no superiors. We cannot close this brief notice of the death of one of the younger generation of Tapleys without sending greeting to our shipmate of the old days, Capt. Geo. H. Tapley, who we learn is sitting by his comfortable fireside these cold winter evenings smoking the pipe of contentment while living over the happy days of his useful past.—Capt. George L. Norton in The Marine Journal.

Mrs. Martha Knight Tate, who died in Roxbury, Mass., January 12th, was the widow of Capt. Thomas T. Tate of Rockland, Maine, and lived there during their married life. Mrs. Tate was a great granddaughter of Micajah and Elizabeth Bradford Drinkwater, and a direct descendant of Gov. Bradford of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The very sad and sudden death last September of her only son George Tate, from the explosion of a gas stove, was a most severe shock to his devoted mother, and from which she did not rally. Mrs. Tate was proud of her son for his brilliancy and marked ability. He had served as Consul to Cuba and at the time of his death was expecting an appointment to the Isthmus of Panama. Mrs. Tate possessed all the virtues that go to make up a noble woman. She was a cousin of Mrs. George W. Miller, Waldo avenue. She leaves a daughter-in-law and several relatives and friends in the surrounding towns. The interment was in Rockland, beside her husband and son.

Augusta R., wife of George B. Paul, died at her home on the Judson L. Warren place in Seamsport, Feb. 8th, aged 40 years, 4 months and 2 days. She was a native of South Boston and came to Seamsport about two years ago. She had been ill for some time with Bright's disease, but for a few days was unusually well, walking to the Paul Ranch, one-half mile distant, to spend Saturday evening, but was taken violently ill Sunday evening, passing away in a very brief time in convulsions. Her husband and two young daughters survive. A prayer service by Rev. Harry P. Taylor, Methodist, was held at her late home Tuesday at 10 a. m. and the remains were brought to Belfast en route to South Boston, where the funeral will take place.

Miss Abigail Fannie Hazeltine died early Monday morning, Feb. 9th, at her home No. 6 Commercial street. She was born in what was formerly known as the Hazeltine Tavern in Seamsport village, October 13, 1827, the daughter of the late Harry and Betsey Bowland Hazeltine. For many years the family have made their home in this city, living at one time on Bridge street. Two sisters made their home with the deceased, Mrs. Elizabeth Jackman and Mrs. Sally B. Prescott. The funeral took place Wednesday at 2 o'clock, Rev. Chas. B. Ames, Unitarian, officiating.

Belfast relatives received a telegram Monday announcing the death of Clara Frances, the only child of William F. and Lillian Mason Kimball of Portland, formerly of Belfast. The little girl was taken ill Feb. 2nd with a bad cold that developed into diphtheria and was practically recovering from it when heart failure caused her death. It is a severe bereavement to the young parents, as Clara was an unusually bright and attractive child. Her age was 6 years, 1 month and 7 days.

Funeral services for Capt. Chas. Veazie, aged 77, were held Feb. 8th at his late home in Brewer. He had visited nearly all the important ports of the world. In 1850 he went to the California gold fields and remained there several years. His last command was the brig Irene, in which he made three trips from New York to the west coast of Africa. He retired about 20 years ago. He was one of the oldest members of Rising Virtue Lodge of Masons of Bangor.

Doris Meserve, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. E. Meserve of Lewiston, passed away at her home at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning Feb. 5th after an illness of only a few hours. The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon and the floral tributes were exceptionally beautiful. Beside her parents little Doris is survived by her sister Emma and brother Lester.

Funeral services of Miss Lucy Brown of Brooklyn, N. Y., were held in the Universalist church, Rockland, Feb. 8th. She was a sister-in-law of the late Maj. Gen. Hiram G. Berry and formerly lived in Rockland, where she had a summer estate many years. She was 86.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID SICKNESS

Hood's Sarsaparilla, Old-time Remedy, Purifies the Blood.

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They may be either inherited or acquired. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other has the same formula or ingredients. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

Home Folks in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Frost Sojourning at Fruitland Park Make Two Excursions.

A personal letter from Mrs. E. P. Frost under date of Fruitland Park, Fla., Feb. 4th, tells of two excursions Mr. and Mrs. Frost had made the past week.

The first was to Silver Springs, the terminus of the famous Ocklawaha river trip. Leaving the Park on the noon train we arrived in the pretty and good sized town of Ocala about one o'clock and went by autos the five or six miles to the Springs, over a very smooth and well shaded road, one part of which, called "Lovers Lane", was especially attractive. At Silver Springs the party embarked, a few at a time, in a glass bottomed boat to view the various Springs, which are similar to the Sulphur Springs to be seen in other parts of the State—at Green Cove Springs for instance, which we visited from Jacksonville, and where Mr. E. J. Morison is at present located, I believe. The Springs are fantastically named, "Ladies Parlor", "Gentlemen's Smoking Room", "Devil's Kitchen", &c., and vary in depth from about fifteen to sixty-five feet. Except where the Springs are located the water is very shallow and filled with grasses and lily pads. At one point, called "Thousand Springs", hundreds of tiny springs apparently throwing up a white sediment, may be seen within an area of a few square feet, but the principal beauty is the transparency of the water, which allows the tiniest spot on the bottom to be seen clearly, and the iridescent blue coloring of the rocks. After making friends with the tame "razor backs" that were roaming about, and waiting for a shower to pass, we returned to Ocala, where we experienced a charming bit of Southern hospitality. A former Fruitland Park guide invited the entire party of thirty-eight to a bountiful supper of sandwiches, cakes, tea and coffee, which she served to us on her lawn. Fancy a six o'clock picnic Jan. 29th in the open! After a social hour with music we left for the Park, arriving about ten o'clock.

The other excursion was even better. All available conveyances were utilized to carry the party of twenty-four to Leesburg, four miles away, (those who had carriages or autos managing to find spare seats for those who had none), and there we took the gasoline launch "Dixie" for a most perfect water excursion over Lakes Harris and Eustis, and through Dead River. The day was made to order—soft clouds over the sun all day, so that we might not burn or strain our eyes, yet so warm that many of us sat on top of things without wraps, and not a sprinkle of rain. The water had just the faintest ripple, like pebbled glass, and the moss-covered old cypress trees along the banks, the majestic pines, the tall palmettos, the occasional orange groves sloping down to the water, the fishing boats drawn up into the lily pads, the dusky fishermen answering our salute with a gleam of ivory, all combined to make a picture long to be remembered. We passed through two drawbridges on the way, and arrived about noon at Palmetto Point in Lake Eustis, where a stilted and fearless gentleman named Hixcox has an alligator and snake farm. For our benefit he made some of his rattlesnakes "perform", maddening one till it struck the bug he was swinging at it. Its fangs being fastened in the bag it was helpless, and he took it by the neck as fearlessly as I would a kitten, held its mouth open with a stick and allowed us to see the drops of poison oozing from the fangs which appear like two long curved teeth, and act as a sort of hypodermic needle. Within the sound of his rattle, in the shade of tangled palmettos and moss-bearded trees, our picnic table was spread close by the water, and after the inner man was satisfied we embarked again for a short visit to the pretty little town of Eustis, where we did some shopping and viewed the new Ocklawaha hotel, a rather imposing structure, arriving home soon after dark. This section of Florida has the highest land in the State, yet Primrose Hill would compare very favorably with the highest hill about here, and even that hill they are expecting to circumvent soon by building a new section of road.

Quail are plentiful in the woods, and we have seen bittern, cranes, ducks and other water birds, while in our own yard the bluejays are scolding a good part of the time, and mocking birds and cardinals are frequent visitors, regaling us with their grand opera arias. I have also seen wrens, mourning doves, red headed woodpeckers, and blackbirds, while the "Board of Health" (local name for turkey buzzards) is never far away and it is not uncommon to see the skeleton and skin of a dog or pig in the woods with not a bit of flesh left on them.

We can get good green peas, spinach, chard, new beets, carrots, &c. and ripe strawberries in the neighborhood, and our hantsman neighbor supplies our table with quail. The fisherman remembers us, too. Although it is not the flower season, some of our neighbors have roses in beautiful variety besides other blooming vines and plants.

"Comfort Bungalow" is very conveniently located on the main street in a small grove containing a variety of trees. We have Kings ats umas and tangerines of the kid glove variety, besides the native sour, blood, russet sweet and California naval oranges, grape fruit, kumquats and loquats. There are also mulberry and peach trees in bloom, pear and other trees, the names of which we have not learned.

Judging by newspaper reports from other sections of the country, east and west, we made no mistake this winter in coming to Florida. I only wish you 15 deg. below zero victims might all be here, too. Sincerely yours,

EVELYN O. FROST,

"Comfort Bungalow" Fruitland Park, Fla.

Pownal Lodge, F. & A. M. of Stockton Springs, has invited Timothy Chase Lodge of Belfast to be their guests Feb. 18th and a large delegation is planning to accept the invitation. There will be work in the Master's Mason degree and a banquet.

EAST BELFAST.

Isaac Mason is reported a very little better at this writing.

Miss Lucy Leavitt is reported not as well at this writing, Feb. 10th, and is a great sufferer from acute rheumatism.

Chas. Mackintosh returned last Saturday from Boston, where he had been to consult a physician for cancer.

Mrs. John Crosby returned Monday from Bangor, after accompanying to her home in that city her sister Mrs. Jennie Robbins, who had been her guest for a week.

Mrs. Leon Shute, who has been suffering with an abscess, was operated on Tuesday afternoon by Drs. Tapley and Eugene Stevens and is quite comfortable.

Miss Clarice Brassy-Brierly left last Monday for Alberta, Canada, accompanied by her uncle from that place. Miss Brierly was not blessed with good health and was obliged to return for that purpose. During her stay here she has made many friends, especially among the school children, and all regretted her departure and hope for her speedy recovery.

Among those from this vicinity who attended the meeting of the Veteran association in North Searport last week were Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Stinson, Mrs. Etta Savery and Miss Ethel Savery. The latter sang very sweetly McKinley's favorite song, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." There was a large attendance and all reported a fine time.

Friends in this vicinity of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kimball received the sad news of the death of their only child, Clara Frances Kimball, in Portland Monday morning, of diphtheria, aged about 6 years. She was a bright and lovable child and the family are grief-stricken and have the deepest sympathy of many friends. Mrs. Kimball is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mason.

The Hiramdale Gun Club had the building given them by Elmer Sherman moved to its new location last Saturday. Fred N. Savery had charge of the moving, and Walter Achorn and the Belfast Trucking Co. did the work. The club feels very proud to know they will soon have an up-to-date club house. It will be renovated and a veranda added, and they are anticipating many pleasant evenings in their new quarters.

Bishop Codman of Portland, Me., delivered very able sermons at Mason Mills chapel last Sunday morning and at Trinity church at 2:30 p. m. There was a very large and appreciative audience at both churches. Bishop Codman returned to Portland Monday morning. He was the guest over Sunday of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Vaughan. Rev. Wm. Vaughan left Tuesday morning for New York for a few weeks' vacation. There will be no service or Sunday school until his return.

THE COURTS OF MAINE.

Hon. J. H. Montgomery of Camden recently gave a very able and interesting address on the History of the Courts of Maine before the students of the University of Maine College of Law. In opening his address, the lecturer referred to the fact that he was before a most critical audience, and that youth was the most critical age of man. He then spoke of the judiciary at the time of the establishment of the State, as provided for by the constitution in terms even more concrete than those of the Federal constitution.

The Legislature established a Supreme Judicial Court. There were three supreme justices for holding the trial and law terms in the nine counties of the State. A distinction was made between attorneys and counsellors, those admitted as lawyers being attorneys for two years and then becoming counsellors with full rights of legal practice.

The county courts were known as Courts of Sessions and were presided over by chief justices. These courts were superseded by the Supreme Judicial Courts which retained jurisdiction over all matters of trial, both great and small. In 1839, the tenure of justices, until then during good behavior, was fixed at seven years. Maine was a sparsely settled territory and only a little over 200 lawyers practised in the State at the time of its establishment while only a little over a hundred young men had graduated from Bowdoin. To relieve the Supreme Judicial Court of the pressure of the small cases, superior courts were established in Kennebec and Cumberland Counties. Numerous municipal courts have been established.

The lecturer gave an account of how the supreme justices have humanized the law and gave numerous instances of great interest. He suggested a number of remedies and reforms called for by the administration of justice and recommended that the students direct their attention to the important subject, Courts in Maine.—Camden Herald.

SCENE FROM "BUNTY PULLS THE STRINGS."

"Bunty Pulls the Strings," the biggest theatrical novelty of many seasons, will be the attraction at the Colonial Theater on Monday, Feb. 16th. The remarkably successful run that it enjoyed in New York, is, no doubt, known to all who keep alive in things theatrical.

"Bunty" remained over fifteen months at the Comedy Theatre—something out of the ordinary even for New York. The fun of "Bunty Pulls the Strings" lies not so much in plot or situation as in the transparent workings of the minds of its characters. Everyone of them is, or has been, or wants to be, a grasper of something, and everyone of them except "Bunty" is more self-deceiving than dangerous, because every one is "on to" the workings of every one else's intelligence. The fact extends to the old lady who, Scotch regard for the proprieties of the could find no other way of satisfying curiosity as to why the policeman was called out during the service than by fainting and being carried out where she could see what was going on. Sale of seats opens at the office next Friday morning, at 9 o'clock.

EIGHTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS

Belfast Public Buildings Company,

5 % First Mortgage Real Estate Gold Bonds.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST GUARANTEED BY LEASE TO THE CITY OF BELFAST.

The Belfast Public Building Company, a Maine Corporation organized for the purpose, has acquired a parcel of land, located in the center of the business and residence districts of the City of Belfast, and proposes to erect thereon a building suitable for public school purposes. A contract has been entered into between the City of Belfast and the Company, whereby the City pays to the Company for a period of twenty-five years an annual rental sufficient to pay the interest and retire the principal of the bonds. These bonds are subject to call on any interest paying period.

The City agrees to pay all taxes and other charges, and to maintain the property in the same condition as when delivered to it, ordinary wear and tear excepted,—leaving the entire income available for payment of interest and principal of these bonds.

RENTAL.

The rents have been assigned to the Waldo Trust Company, as Trustee for the bondholders, thus providing funds for the retirement of the bonds and payment of the interest, without regard for the solvency of the Company.

SECURITY.

The security behind the bonds consists of the building, erected at a cost of $75,000, and the real estate, valued by competent appraisers at $10,000, and the lease to the city.

OFFERING.

These bonds are offered locally, and not only provide a safe investment, but in addition appeal strongly to the public spirit of the citizens of Belfast. The City is already up to its debt limit and cannot provide funds for the building of a central schoolhouse out of new borrowings. The condition of the present schoolhouse is unsanitary and wholly inadequate to the educational needs of the children.

In order that all who may desire to participate in the issue, the bonds are made in the denominations of $100.00.

Subscriptions will be received at the City National Bank, The Waldo Trust Company, or Belfast Savings Banks.

$61,500 worth of bonds have been already subscribed for, and the remainder is offered at par and accrued interest.

TROY.

The High School, taught by Mr. Wilson of Bowdoinham, closed last week.... Will Damon of Montana, called on old neighbors and friends in Troy last week.... Miss Angie Gargelon is visiting her sister, Mrs. Allie Bradford, in Auburn.... The Art Club will meet Feb. 12th with Mrs. L. J. Sanderson.... On account of the fire which destroyed the home of Truman Cook, John Harper of Lewiston came to Troy last week, intending to take his wife's mother, Mrs. Knowles, home with him, but she decided to remain at the home of a neighbor until warmer weather.... Friends of Mrs. Abbie Myrick, regret to learn that she recently fell on the ice breaking her hip. She is in Franklin County Hospital Greenfield, Mass.... The Sunshine Society held a most enjoyable meeting last week with Mrs. Hattie Sanderson. Much admiration was felt and expressed for her beautiful oil paintings, two of which she recently sold for $50. The next meeting will be with Georgia Woods, Feb. 19th.

Candidates desiring to take this examination and who have not already applied should apply at once for the preliminary application blanks, which will be sent on request to the state Superintendent of Public Schools, Augusta, Maine.

Wallace Palmer of Thorndike has one of the best herds of Jersey cows in Waldo county. From 19 cows during December he received the following results: The net gain per day was $4.73. The total cost of feed per day was $1.00. The daily profit from each cow was $3.73. Mr. Palmer is a member of the Thorndike Cow Test Association. The testing is done by the agricultural students of Freeport Academy under the supervision of R. P. Mitchell, principal.

Percy S. Edgcomb has some feathered wonders, a number of English sparrows having taken up their winter quarters in his hen house, where they share the rations of the hens. They made their way in through the meshes of the wire netting and when Mr. Edgcomb enters the building show little concern, but when the cat appears they make a hasty exit, only to return when the cat has gone.

THE NORTH CHURCH GUILD. Miss Annie V. Field pleasantly entertained the Guild of the North Congregational church last Monday evening for Mrs. Harnden S. Pearl, who with Mr. Pearl is her guest for the week. There was a large attendance of members and the evening was spent very enjoyably with needlework. Mrs. Pearl was introduced by Miss Annie M. Kittredge, the president of the guild. The work committee distributed a number of pieces to be completed in preparation for the May fete, when it is planned to make a special feature of a table of babies and children's things. The next meeting will be held with Miss Amy E. Stoddard, Monday evening, Feb. 23rd.

A REPLY TO THE MAYOR. There was a good audience in the Opera House last Friday evening to listen to Dr. G. C. Kilgore in reply to a speech of the mayor a few evenings before from the same stage, and he had the close attention of his audience throughout. The mayor was very much in evidence, facing the audience from a table in front of the stage, but the organized gang who hissed and otherwise disturbed a Republican meeting held in the Opera House a few years ago were not on hand, and many of them are said to have seen the error of their ways. Dr. Kilgore told some things about the mayor that he, or should be, matters of common knowledge. He did not resort to mud-slinging or personal abuse, but stated plain facts in a business-like way, and must have made it evident to the unprejudiced hearer that the present mayor should not be permitted to perpetuate further his one-man city government.

A VISIT TO EDISON. Fred D. Jones and Roy Ellingwood returned last Saturday from a trip to Boston and New York and a visit to the Edison factory in Orange, New Jersey, where they had the honor, and pleasure, of meeting Thomas A. Edison, the greatest inventor of the age. They met the Wizard in his private office, and after a pleasant call were shown over the factory, which occupies over 30 acres, and were then taken in Mr. Edison's limousine to the Millionaire Country Club, where they lunched with F. K. Dolbeer, one of the important officials of the company. They also visited the Knickerbocker building in New York where the records are made, met a number of the artists and heard an orchestra which was making a record. At the Orange plant they visited the moving pictures department in which the talking movies are tried out and perfected. Altogether it was a never-to-be-forgotten experience. The Edison plant at Orange employs 7,000 hands and has a monthly payroll of $100,000.

LOST

A black and white setter dog, answers to the name of Budd. Collar marked F. S. Hall, Searsmont. Return to (and receive reward) E. M. HALL, 117 23 Main Street, Belfast, Me.

The five inmates at the Home for Aged Women have been ill the past week with the prevailing epidemic.

There was no quorum present at the adjourned meeting of the City Government last Thursday evening.

The public supper at the Universalist church last Thursday evening was all that could be desired as to menu, but counter attractions kept away some who usually attend.

The Woman's Alliance of the First Parish (Unitarian) church will meet at the home of Mrs. Morris L. Slugg, Church street, this Thursday, afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Walker Art Gallery will be the subject of a paper by Mrs. E. L. Stevens.

The annual short courses in the college of agriculture, University of Maine, which opened last week, have attracted 34 students. This is an increase over last year. The courses continue until Feb. 20th. Harold L. Piper of Troy is registered in the poultry management course, and A. C. Pitcher of Northport in horticulture.

Pocahontas Sewing Circle met last Friday evening with Mrs. Walter H. Juan, Bridge street. After a delicious picnic supper what was played. Mrs. Omar won the first lady's prize, a pretty picture, and Mrs. Charles E. Chapman the consolation, a match-holder. Mr. Arthur Dinmore won the first gentleman's prize, a bonbon dish, and Mr. George A. Hussey the consolation, a "September Morn" sofa pillow top. A good time is reported. The meeting February 20th will be with Mrs. Chas. E. Chapman, Church street.

The card party in Odd Fellows Hall, Feb. 4th, under the auspices of Aurora Rebekah Lodge, was a social and financial success. There were twenty-one tables in the dance hall at which plain, bridge and auction whist were played, with cribbage in the ante-room for devotees of that game. After the play doughnuts, cheese and coffee were served, the gentlemen pouring the coffee. The committee of arrangements was Mrs. Samuel Adams, Miss Grace E. Walton and Mrs. Alex Lindgren. The proceeds will be used for repairs on the lodge room.

COLBY COLLEGE CONCERT. The Colby College Musical Club gave a concert at the Colonial last Saturday afternoon to a rather small but interested audience. The orchestra numbers were especially good, and the violinist, G. W. Pratt, was much enjoyed. "The College Minstrel Rehearsal," an original sketch by Messrs. Jones, Braun, Weston, Marston, Carroll and Brunelle, was very entertaining. Ralph A. Bramhall of Belfast was a member of the Glee Club, which furnished some good numbers. The clubs were en route to Rockland, where they gave a concert in the evening, leaving by special boat after the performance.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE PROPOSITION. At a meeting of the Belfast Public Building association Thursday evening, Feb. 5th, W. E. Mansur of Bangor was selected as the architect for the proposed new public school building. Mr. Mansur was in the city during the day, was informed as to the requirements and shown the location, and made a preliminary sketch. He will have detailed plans ready for the examination of the building committee within four weeks and if they are approved bids for the construction of the building will be called for and work begun as soon as practicable. There is no doubt but that the bonds will all be taken up as over $61,000 had been disposed of at the end of last week. The advertisement in another column gives particulars as to these bonds.

SEASIDE HOSE CO. BALL. The annual ball of Seaside Hose company will take place Feb. 26th in Seaside Grange hall and the proceeds will be given to a member of the company who has had a critical illness and undergone a surgical operation and is now slowly convalescing. People will go to this ball because they are assured a good time, because they in this way will show their appreciation of the "boys" who turn out at all hours to protect lives and property, and on this occasion there will be the added incentive of wishing to aid the firemen in their kindly purpose. Keyes orchestra will furnish music and the members of Seaside will leave nothing undone that will contribute to the success of their annual ball.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS. The officers-elect of Emma White Barker Tent, D. of V. were installed Wednesday night, Feb. 4th, by Mrs. Maude Merrick of Waterville, department president, assisted by: President, Mrs. Etta P. Savory; senior vice president, Mrs. Annie M. Frost; junior vice president, Miss Annelia Gupit; chaplain, Mrs. Winnifred Kimball Holmes; treasurer, Mrs. Louise Ferguson (absent); secretary, Miss Alice E. Simmons (absent); guide, Mrs. Alice Mason; trustees, Mrs. Emma Brown, Mrs. Mary Achorn, Mrs. Myra Dutch; guard, Mrs. Phemie King; color bearers one, Miss Florence Kimball; two, Mrs. Ethel Whiting; three, Mrs. Beryl Ludwick; four, Mrs. Myra Dutch; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Belle Nickerson; musician, Mrs. Isabelle Howes. Following the installation refreshments were served and an informal hour passed. During her stay in Belfast, Mrs. Merrick was the guest of Mrs. Annie M. Frost in Cedar street.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY. At a chafing dish party given Wednesday evening, Feb. 4th, at Dreamless, the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kittredge, by Miss Stella M. Durgin, her engagement was announced to Carl H. Hopkins of Camden. The guests included the members of the Waldo Telephone Exchange, of which Miss Durgin is one, and the announcement came as a complete surprise. The marriage will take place in the early summer. Miss Durgin is an Islesboro young lady but for several years has made her home with her sister, Mrs. George E. Kittredge. She has been a local and toll operator for some years. Mr. Hopkins was for a time a student at the University of Maine but left college to take a lucrative position with the Knox Telephone Co. and is now wire chief at Camden. He is building a bungalow in Camden, where they will make their home.

The Dinmore Store
BELFAST, MAINE

A few of the friends of Samuel R. Stevens gave him a genuine surprise party on the anniversary of his birth, Feb. 4th, and he was the recipient of several gifts. Games were played and a social time enjoyed. Mrs. Stevens served light refreshments.

Albert Cuzner and Claude Nutter, leaders, and the following delegates from the Baptist church, William M. Greenlaw, Harry C. Snow, Roy Ellingwood, Eugene E. Gannon, Ralph Clifford, Sturgis Dexter, Clifford Tinker and Edward W. Benson, and Donald Spear from the North church, will leave today to attend the Boys' State Convention in Lewiston. Mr. O. E. Frost will act as toastmaster at the banquet Friday night, and Rev. Walter P. Sturtevant will be in attendance Friday.

SOME ANCIENT PHILOSOPHERS. At the meeting of the Reading Department of the Arts and Crafts club Monday evening, Mrs. Elward H. Pierce, president, presiding, there was a good attendance of members and several guests, who are members of other city clubs. The paper of the evening was by Mrs. Giles G. Abbott on "Some Ancient Philosophers and their Philosophies." Her paper, which showed much painstaking research, treated in a bright and entertaining way of such philosophers as Socrates, Aristotle and Plato, and was so appreciated by the club that it was unanimously voted to have it printed and sent to the Reciprocity Bureau of Women's Clubs for general distribution. There was an extended and informal discussion on merging the Arts and Crafts Society and its various departments with other organized clubs in the city into a General Woman's club, a plan that has been privately discussed for some time. No formal action was taken, but the matter will be further considered at an early day. The next regular meeting will be Feb. 24th, when Mrs. Arthur Ritchie will present a paper on "Arnold Bennett and his Books."

THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL. The union meeting Monday evening in Memorial Hall of A. E. Clark Camp, Sons of Veterans, and the Home and School Association was an unqualified success. The audience, which taxed the seating capacity of the hall to its limit, included 100 pupils from the schools. This idea of holding this meeting originated with Commander A. T. Gay of the Sons of Veterans and he was ably seconded by Sup't. W. B. Woodbury, who is also a member of the Sons of Veterans, and great enthusiasm and interest was manifested by both societies. The following program was carried out: Selection by the B. H. S. orchestra; address of welcome by Commander A. T. Gay of the Sons of Veterans; response by S. A. Parker, President of the Home and School Association; song, "Our Flag Colors," by pupils from the South school; recitation, "Your Flag and My Flag," by Winnifred Welch; recitation, "The Flag Goes By," by Donald Knowlton; flag exercise, the North school; recitation, Lincoln, Elmer Keene; song by South school, 4th Grade; reading from "Gov. Walsh's Lincoln Day Proclamation," by Frank Downes; piano solo, "To Joy," Louise Clement; song by pupils of the 7th Grade; recitation, "My Captain," Dorothy Chamberlain; recitation, Elmer Ellis; song, "Dear Native Land," by the five Chalmers Sisters; flag drill, 5th Grade pupils; orchestra; Gettysburg address by Wesley Wood; singing "America" by the audience.

TEACHERS' PENSIONS. Up to the end of last week 126 applications for teachers' pensions in accordance with the law passed at the last session of the legislature had been received at the office of the State superintendent of public schools, and of this number 111 have been approved and certificates have been issued entitling the applicants to the pensions. Of the number approved, 22 are drawing pensions of $250 per year; 20, $200 per year; none at $150 per year; 39, $125 per year; 29, $100 per year; and 19, $75 per year. The pensions thus far granted call for total annual payments of $14,900. The law, which went into effect on October 1st, provides for two classes of pensions, one for teachers who were active up to and including the school year of 1913 and the other for teachers who had already retired before the school year ending 1913. Teachers of the first class draw a maximum pension of $250 per annum, which is paid if they have served at least 35 years. If they have served less than 35 years and more than 30 years they will receive $200 per annum. If they have served less than 30 years and more than 25 years they will receive a pension of $150 per annum. Teachers who had already retired will receive one half the amount received by those who were actively at work at the close of the year 1913. The oldest pensioner on the list is Mrs. Rachel B. (Pratt) Roix of Belfast, who was born in 1824 and is therefore nearly 90 years of age. She began teaching in 1842 at the age of 18 years and taught for 38 years, retiring in 1876, at the age of 61 years. The second oldest pensioner is Thomas C. Smart of Waldo, who is 86 years of age, having been born in 1828. He began teaching when he was 28 years of age and taught for 30 years, from 1858 to 1888. Following are the names and addresses of those in Waldo county who are drawing teachers' pensions: Mrs. Abbie Stevens Daniels, Belfast; Juliet A. Wiggins, Belfast; Lucy Abby McDowell, Belfast; Thomas C. Smart, Waldo; Rachel Pratt Roix, Belfast.

Remember the patriotic supper at the Methodist church, Friday, Feb. 20th.

The County Commissioners were in session Tuesday on routine matters.

The little house near the "Muck" owned and occupied by Willis Harvey was burned last Monday night and Mr. Harvey barely escaped with his life.

There are 11 from Waldo county in the school for feeble-minded in West Pownal and the author of the "menu" distributed in this city last week should be sent there to make an even dozen.

Mr. Joseph Trussell has called attention to an error in the last chapter of Gov. Crosby's Annals, built here in 1854, is given as 136 tons. This is as originally published in The Journal, and is a typographical error. The Coronet was 1367.54 tons, as correctly given in the first volume of Williamson's History of Belfast.

ADVERTISED LETTERS. The following letters remained uncalled for in the Belfast post office for the week ending Feb. 10th: Ladies—Mrs. Annie Bigford, Miss Leora Eaton. Gentlemen—Thomas Copp, G. R. Connors, E. D. Curtis, Wm. N. Fletcher, Wm. H. Hamilton, Arthur W. Rumney, Witham Lane, Harry Nickerson, I. E. Parker, Freeman Robbins—Geo. W. Wentworth.

The first semi-annual promotion in the Belfast public schools took place last Monday morning, when some of the students from all of the grades were moved ahead one room. In some rooms quite a number had done extra work and were competent to pass along. In a few cases the parents have not approved of the promotion and the children, although competent, will remain in the grade until the annual promotion.

The prediction of "blood on the moon" last Saturday night failed to materialize. According to street rumor the mayor was to exhort in post office square, march at the head of his army to the courthouse, throw the citizens there assembled out of doors and nominate himself for the second time for mayor. But none of these things happened. The moon shone undimmed upon a peaceful community and the caucus at the courthouse was undisturbed even by the presence of the incitor of strife.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Cushman of Sharon, Mass., will arrive Saturday and spend Sunday with Rev. Charles B. Ames at the Unitarian parish here. Monday, Feb. 23rd, they will accompany Miss Marian Wells and Mr. Ames to Augusta, where they will be married in the Unitarian church by Rev. Paul S. Phalen, an intimate friend of Mr. Ames. Rev. and Mrs. Phalen will entertain the party at luncheon, after which the bride and groom will leave for a wedding trip. They will return to Belfast before Sunday, March 8th.

WEST BELFAST. The Thimble club met with Annabelle Underwood last Thursday. The next meeting will be with Mabel Miller, Thursday afternoon, Feb. 20th. Percy Simmons arrived home Jan. 30th and will remain until the first of March. Mr. Albert Miller went to Camden Tuesday, returning Wednesday afternoon.

Harry Knowlton of Citypoint is working in Equity Grange hall, finishing the kitchen and ante-rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elms attended Pomona Grange in Liberty, Feb. 3d. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Tothaker spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hamilton. Mayford Morris has been quite sick the past week, with the mumps.

TWO CAUCUSES. A caucus called by Mayor Hanson met at the courthouse last Thursday evening and nominated him for mayor. T. S. Thompson was chairman and C. A. Pooler clerk. Frank H. Mayo moved the nomination of Hanson and was seconded by W. H. Arnold. There was no other candidate and 122 votes were cast for Hanson and he was declared the nominee and addressed the caucus. A Democratic caucus to nominate a candidate for mayor was held in the courthouse last Saturday evening and was largely attended. Dr. G. C. Kilgore presided, Frank I. Wilson was secretary and Raymond Rogers clerk. S. A. Parker in a few well chosen remarks presented the name of Robert F. Dunton, several seconded the nomination, and it was voted that the secretary cast the ballot and Mr. Dunton was declared the nominee of the caucus for mayor.

The Daytonia, Fla., Gazette-News of Feb. 6th, gives an account of a fire Feb. 2nd at S. A. Breeze, Fla., in which four cottages owned by Mrs. H. L. Kochersperger were destroyed and Mrs. K. Kochersperger and Mrs. W. H. White had a narrow escape with their lives. The fire is thought to have originated from a defective fuse or an electric wire. Mrs. K. was awakened by the flames making their way in the ceiling of the room. She ran to her guest's room with the alarm and they had barely left the house when the roof fell in. In addition to the four houses she lost a valuable collection of curios and art, gathered from all parts of the world, statuary valued at several thousand dollars, Persian, Persian rugs, antique furniture, handsome paintings, cut glass and valuable books. The loss is $20,000 to $25,000, with comparatively little insurance. The Clarendon Hotel fire department rendered prompt and efficient service, but could not save the property.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SUPPER. The graduating class of the Belfast High school departed from the established precedent of presenting a class play and instead had a graduation benefit supper in Memorial Hall last Friday, which was a complete success in every way. Misses Ida S. Carleton, Agnes M. Coombs and Myrtle Frost were the general supper committee, and the menu was a varied and excellent one. The eight tables were set twice, and at each table were two seniors and an assistant from the junior class, as follows: Louise Innes, Myrtle Smith and Ruth Macomber; Myrtle Frost, Malcolm Cottrell and Mary Hayee; Marian Hayes, Malcolm Vaughan and Susie Braley; Agnes Coombs, Frank Waterman and Jessie Hart; Arline Wadlin, Carl Noyes and Mildred Randall; Evelyn Richards, Esther Wiley and Martha Knowlton; Margaret Craig, Ethel Sturtevant and Annette Holt; Ida Carleton, Alton Johnson and Helen Kidridge. The B. H. S. Victrola was used during the supper and the social hour, and a dance followed with music by Frank Mudgett and Alphonso Ritchie. A satisfactory sum was realized. The class wish to thank all who assisted them in any way.

A BRONCHIAL COUGH

is wearing and dangerous because the inflamed, mucus-filled tubes interfere with breathing and the fresh air passes through that unhealthy tissue.

Probably no other remedy affords such prompt and permanent relief as Scott's Emulsion; it checks the cough, heals the linings of the throat and bronchial tubes and strengthens the lungs to avert tuberculosis. This point cannot be emphasized too strongly—that Scott's Emulsion has been suppressing bronchitis for forty years and will help you.

Be careful to avoid substitutes and insist on SCOTT'S.

CHAPTER I.

"Mum!" "Ahrrr!" "Ohooo!" mingled with raucous roar of contentious voices came from the Board Room of Southwick, Wiener & Co., Brokers and Bankers, of 23 Broomfield street. The sounds of speculative bustle, the unceasing words and phrases and sense within the room, where tickers rattled, telephones tinkled and gabbled, men shouted stock quotations from the tapes to the markers at the boards, and a motley crowd of men filled the traders' chairs and surrounded the tickers.

The news from the tickers and the exchanges of great cities was exciting this morning. Strange statements and contradictory tips arrived at intervals to stupefy judgment and upset carefully laid plans of operating. The most experienced traders could not interpret the running tapes. Amateurs and experienced traders floundered amid differing opinions like drowning men in surf and undertow.

The Board Room was thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide. One side was covered by a rectangular board of blackboard, having abbreviated names of railroads, industrials, mines and miscellaneous stocks above the columns of parallelograms more or less filled by card quotations in fractions or numerals. The tickers tape recorded quotations of prices; men called them to the market, who walked north and back before the board prices and observed the trend of the market. Some wrote or gave an order or two and departed; others lingered and discussed the weather, crops and dividend prospects.

"Mr. Dean, I would like a little more margin. Your account shows only six points now," said Nelson, the margin clerk, quietly to a shabby-genteel trader.

"All right, how much?"

"Four hundred will do at present."

"I'll give you a check. No, sell one hundred Rio Grande preferred."

"Very well; put up or sell out. It is all the same to us."

"Dean went over in the corner, lighted a cigar and cursed to himself. It makes many a man indignant and sore to put up more margin when losses are piling up against his account."

Digman, the cotton man, whose coat was white with chalky quotations, partly caught from the board and partly written by the waggish crowd in his corner, turned to Mr. Peck. "Bad for bulls in cotton today, sir. Charleston delivery yesterday was twenty thousand bales."

"Indeed! Buy me five hundred bales of March."

"Buy, sir? Are you crazy? Look how it has gone all the morning, down, down, down!"

Peck showed Digman a private telegram from Texas which read, "Hard frost last night in Texas."

Digman smiled, sent the order, and his customer departed. Cotton rose forty points during the afternoon after the sleepy trader had awakened.

Wendell got a bunch of tips and read: "The market is reactionary this morning, but we think we detect accumulation and advise buying on recessions."

Landoff:

"Buy Smelters for a turn. Important movement is impending, which will culminate sharply."

"We think Mo. Pac., Kansas & Texas, Amal. and Steel good for a long pull."

"The bears are making a raid and we should not be surprised to see a further break in prices," said Richard & Co.

"The news should let the market alone until its trend is established, but he will not. An irregular market sometimes puzzles the wisest of men."

Wendell lighted a cigarette and seated himself in a chair next to Mr. Low, retired merchant, who amused himself by careful speculation, and said, "This is a rather peculiar market, Mr. Low."

"Yes; some one is going to get hurt before long," muttered Low.

"Stocks are on the toboggan this morning. Is the trend downward, sir?"

"Looks so," dryly, with a puff of smoke from his cigar.

"A little healthy reaction. I had an influence from Spirit-land." Ever experienced one? said a listener in the next seat. He was a middle-aged, wrinkled-faced man, with watery eyes and a gouty tendency.

"Rubbish! I had an aunt, who consulted her husband's spirit about investments, through a long-haired professor and a slate, and lost forty thousand," sneered Cutnet, winking at Low and Wendell, and tapping his brow carelessly with his forefinger.

"What do you think of this movement?" asked Wendell of Cutnet.

"It is difficult to think in this racket. Steel, Saint Paul, New York Central and Union Pacific look promising."

"To buy or to sell?"

"I do not know. Toss a penny and trust to luck."

"All right. Heads, I buy; tails, I sell; here goes, and it is a tail. It means keep out, as I never shot the market."

"He who sells what he isn't, has a reputation as a sure remedy."

Low chuckled good-naturedly and remarked, "You have a wise head for young shoulders. This is a good market to let alone." He lighted another cigar, for he was an inveterate smoker, and continued to blow rings with the utmost complacency although thousands of dollars loss threatened him by the changes in the market.

GENEALOGICAL AND HISTORICAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL: "Some Temple Pedigrees," a Genealogy of the Known Descendants of Abraham Temple, who settled in Salem, Mass., in 1636, published by Levi Daniel Temple, contains the following:

Levi, 6; (Abraham, 1; Richard, 2; Abraham, 3; Joseph, 4; Joseph, 5) Temple, of Bowdoin and Lisbon, Maine, was born about 1751, probably near Westford, Mass. He married Rachel Nutting of Westford, March 10, 1774. He served as corporal in Capt. Timothy Underwood's Company, Col. William Prescott's Regiment, at the Concord fight. He is said to have fought at the battle of Bunker Hill. His autograph signature is preserved upon a military document in the Massachusetts Archives, vol. 35, p. 151. He became a Free Will Baptist minister. Died about 1821 and is buried on Beaver Hill, town of Freedom, Me.

Children: 1. Martha, b. 1776. She was the second child born in the town of Bowdoin, Me. 2. Noah, b. 1778. 3. Sarah, b. 1780. 4. Stephen, b. 1782. 5. Levi, b. 1784. 6. Joseph, b. Oct. 13, 1786. 7. Wilbur, b. 1788.

I would like very much to learn any further facts about the above-mentioned Levi Temple, and also, any facts about his son, Stephen Temple (who is thought to have been a resident of Montville or Freedom) and his descendants.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL:

Memorandum of agreement between Thomas Goldthwait of Fort Pownall in the County of Lincoln and one part and Henry Black of Chelsea, in the County of Suffolk, on the other part, viz: said Goldthwait agrees to sell unto said Black, a tract of land lying on Penobscot River near Fort Pownall aforesaid, commonly called upper Sandpoint, adjoining a lot of land sold Jacob Shute, to have 40 rods in the front and in the rear and to run back so far from the shore as to measure 100 acres, and is butted and bounded as follows, southerly on said Jacob Shute's, easterly on Penobscot River, northerly on land belonging to Stephen Wellman, westerly on the land laid out to a township known by the name of Frankfort, for which land said Black agrees to give eight shillings lawful money an acre and pay or give sufficient securities to pay for the same with interest, within six months from the date hereof, also the said Black obliges himself to build upon said tract of land a house of 18 feet by 24 feet (6 feet) stud, within 9 months from this date, settle a family in the same and within 5 years clear fifteen acres of land the said Thomas Goldthwait is hereby obliged upon payment or security as aforesaid to give a sufficient deed of the same, for the performance of the agreement the parties do bind and obligate themselves each to the other in the penalty of fifty pounds. Nevertheless it is understood by the said parties that as Thomas Flucker, Esq., and others are proprietors in the said tract of land with said Thomas Goldthwait that in case the said Thomas Flucker and others should refuse their assent to the foregoing agreement the same is void & of no effect, otherwise it remains in full force & in witness thereof have hereunto interchangedly set their hands and seals this sixteenth day of October, 1877.

Sign'd, Sealed & delivered in presence of us.

Finer Holding of Potatoes by Farmers.

Supply Nearly Normal, but Distribution Unusually Uneven. Principal Potato-Producing States Hold Supplies, with Shortage in a Number of Consuming States.

The yearly estimates of the amount of potatoes remaining in growers' hands and the stocks in dealers' hands on January 1st in the important potato States, just completed by the Bureau of Statistics (Agricultural Forecasts), United States Department of Agriculture, indicate that a larger proportion of the marketable crop of potatoes was still in the hands of farmers on January 1st than had been the case for four years past. The proportion estimated to be in dealers' hands was smaller than for any year of the four except January 1, 1912. The figures showed that the total estimated potato production was below normal, but, owing to the slow movement of the crop up to January 1st, the supply for the remainder of the year will be almost normal. Distribution, however, seems to be unusually uneven. The holdings of potatoes are relatively large in the important producing States of Maine, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota; and relatively small in New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Kansas, which are important both as potato-producing and potato-consuming States.

In consequence of the firm holding by farmers, the price early in the season has been unusually high, being on December 1st about 17-1/2 cents per bushel higher than a year ago, and 11-1/2 cents higher than three years ago, but 11-1/2 cents lower than two years ago, when potatoes on January 1st were selling for 77-1/2 cents per bushel, and the supply was unusually short owing to the drought of the previous year.

Present conditions do not seem to forecast material, if any, advance in prices in the important producing States this year. In 1911, when supplies were but moderately larger than now, and in 1913 the price movement after January 1st was downward instead of upward. The only other factor which may enter to change the experience of 1911 and 1913 is the somewhat different distribution of the crop which exists this year.

Southern growers who plant in the spring for the early market would seem to be justified, from present conditions, in putting out a normal acreage, but should not expect the big advance in prices which prevailed two years ago.

The estimates indicate that about 42.1 per cent of the marketable supply of potatoes of the 1913 crop remained in the hands of farmers and 9.5 per cent in the hands of dealers on January 1st in the important potato-growing States. These figures compare with 39.8 and 9.8 per cent similarly estimated a year ago, 38.1 and 8.6 per cent two years ago, 40.2 and 10.9 per cent three years ago, and 41.2 and 9.9 per cent four years ago. If, for the purpose of comparison, these percentages were applied to the estimates of total production, it would show total stocks of 123 million bushels on January 1, 1914 (in the 19 States analyzed below) compared with 150 million a year ago, 91 millions two years ago, 133 million three years ago, and 142 million four years ago. These figures would indicate that the quantity to be carried toward the close of the season will not be sufficient to cause depressed prices, as was the case last year, but that the supply of potatoes last year (also), nor, on the other hand, will they be so scant as to cause such high prices as prevailed in the spring of 1912.

To show the relation between supplies and prices, the following tabulation is given, showing for the past five years the production, stock on hand Jan. 1st, and the prices paid to producers on December 1st and the following March 1st in 19 important potato-growing States:

Year.	Production (000 bushels)	Stock on hand Jan. 1 (000 bushels)	Price Dec. 1 (cents)	Price March 1 (cents)
1913-14	228,416	42,100	22.75	22.75
1912-13	227,782	39,800	22.75	22.75

THE PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM.

A resolution that the Progressive party of Maine has decided to put a complete ticket in the field at the coming State election, "as it is on principle opposed to any form of merger or amalgamation," was adopted Feb. 5th at a conference of Progressives in Portland. George W. Perkins of New York, a retired trust magnate, who aided materially in financing Roosevelt, was present and said efforts would be made to have candidates for every office in every State from Maine to California and that the success of the party throughout the country depended largely upon the result in Maine. The State committee was to hold the State convention at Bangor on Tuesday, March 24th.

PLAIN TALK

From Two Prosperous Housewives, About Peru.

Mrs. E. T. Gaddis, of Marion, North Carolina, writes to the Peru, Ohio, Co., Columbus, Ohio:

"Before I commenced to take Peru, I could not do any hard work without suffering great pain. I took Peru and Manal, and can say with pleasure they have done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken. Now I am as well as I do all my own work, and it never hurts me at all. I think Peru is a great medicine for womankind."

Mrs. Sarah Frye, No. 105 Sylvan Ave., Asbury Park, N. J., writes: "I have no words to express my gratitude for the wonderful cure that Peru has given me. It is a great good to all suffering women. Peru has done wonderful work for me."

"I was sick over half of my life with systemic catarrh. I want this letter published far and wide, as I was a great sufferer, but to-day I feel as well as anybody can feel."

"Nearly all my life I have spent nearly all I could rake and scrape for doctors, but none of them did me any good. But since I started on your Peru one year ago I have at last found relief in your wonderful Peru. I had begun to think that I was not going to get well, but thank God I am well to-day."

"I hope and pray you may live long to help others as you have helped me. Instead of being a walking drug store I am growing fat and doing well. I will never be without Peru."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peru Tablets.

A Really Tasteless Castor Oil at Last

Something That Science Tried to Get for 3000 Years.

Good bye, drugs and pills!

The perfect laxative has arrived—Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil—made tasteless by a method which chemists have tried to find for 3,000 years.

It is not a flavored or disguised castor oil. It is just pure castor oil without taste or odor.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is a better castor oil than the old evil tasting, evil smelling kind. While none of the taste remains, none of the good has been taken out. Kellogg's Tasteless operates quickly and freely, without griping, causes no gas, and does not turn the stomach. Children take it easily and retain it.

The drug stores have all been supplied. You have only to ask for Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil, 25c or 50c size. It is not sold in bulk. The trade mark is a green castor leaf on the label, bearing the Kellogg signature.

Dried Fruits.

Farmer's Wife May Add to Variety of Daily Fare by Using Them Alone or in Cakes, Puddings and Confectionery.

Fresh fruits are divided into two classes, "flavor fruits" and "food fruits," according as they are valued for their flavor or as a food, says the Chief of the Office of Nutrition Investigations. Those that are 80 per cent or more water fall under the first classification (apples, pears, peaches, and most of our common fruits), while those containing less fall under the latter (bananas, grapes, and figs). The food value of a pound of dried fruit is, of course, much greater than that of a pound of fresh fruit. A pound of the latter will yield an average of about 6 ounces dried, but the amount of water in the original fruit is no guide to the food value of the dried product.

The main change which takes place during drying is the loss of water, but other changes also occur. Very often the right degree of heat produces changes not unlike those which occur during natural ripening on the plant. In some cases the crude fiber which forms the mass of the plant structure is reduced in amount or softened. Much of the starch is changed to some form of sugar. The change in flavor is due partly to the proportionate increase of sugar from loss of water and to absolute increase from chemical changes.

To determine which of two fruits is more economical, not only must the cost per pound be known, but the amount of bodily fuel that makes for energy and protein (muscle-building material) a pound of each would supply. One must also consider what expense is required to prepare each for the table. Grapes can be eaten as a pound of raisins, but a given sum spent for grapes will buy a smaller amount of nutritive material, since the proportion of water is much higher than in the raisins.

On the other hand, low-priced fresh fruit is sometimes as economical as somewhat cheaper dried fruit, since the latter would require sugar and fuel to make it ready for the table.

Attention should also be directed to the extent of inedible material.

DRIED FRUITS REASONABLE IN PRICE AS COMPARED WITH OTHER FOODSTUFFS.

Numerous studies made of nutritive values by the Office of Experiment Stations have shown that dried fruit may be termed an economical article of diet. Fruit products in general contain little protein, but are sources of energy, derived almost entirely from their sugar, dried fruits are decidedly cheaper than meats and compare favorably with dairy products. They are, however, more expensive than cereals and starchy vegetables, such as dried beans and

A Chance for Patriotism and Statesmanship.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL: I very much liked the tone of John Wamaker's speech before a meeting of prominent business men in Philadelphia last month. He said he saw no reason to fear that the new tariff law would work injury to business, unless cowardly, pessimistic business men should set up the old cry of "wolf" and stampede other cowards, as they are very apt to do when anything occurs to cut down some of their unreasonable profits. I see some of our narrow-minded congressmen endorse Wamaker for evidencing a patriotism that can extend beyond the dollar mark. The tariff law and banking law are now on the statute book, and they must stay there four years at least, and any business man who does not sincerely try to make his business conform to the new constitution is not fit to be an American citizen. And I cannot see as there has been any great change after all.

We are paying as much or more for goods as we ever have, and I was confident this would be so. I did not believe that a reasonable reduction of the tariff would largely affect the retail price of goods. And I told Congressman Payne years ago that if he did not see to it that the tariff was reduced to meet the reasonable demands of the people that the party would be put out of power, and I think he believed so himself; but he could not control the "interests," and I think every candid man now thinks that if we had passed this same tariff law in 1908 that we have now (with the exception of free wool) would never have been all this cry of hard times threatened that we hear now. And as Wamaker says, if we will let our patriotism rise above our partisanship all will be well. Instead of laying back and whining because they cannot make as big profits as before let our manufacturers study to run their shops with more efficiency and greater economy and all will be well with them.

Senator Aldrich declared that our government could save $300,000,000 a year by a strict business efficiency. Brandeis shows how the railroads can save $1,000,000 a day by the most approved methods, and Hurd and others have made it plain that American manufacturers are in every respect far behind their foreign competitors in efficiency because conditions have assured them large profits by old methods, when if they had kept in the advance they might have furnished their products at less cost to the people and still made good profits. I read the report of the hearings before the Underwood Committee last winter, consisting of several thousand pages, and from the evidence presented I saw no reason to fear that the new tariff law would work harm in any way save a few lines of business. The woolen manufacturers admitted that a reduction of 50 percent would not hurt them; the leading steel men said it would not injure them, and common sense would teach any one that if we can export $20,000,000 worth of boots and shoes a year and import less than $1,000,000 worth in the same time that the reduction of 10 or 15 percent duty could not hurt them very much; and we now have the prospect of higher shoes, with shoes on the free list.

I endeavored to show by articles in The Journal under the Reciprocity Treaty that under discussion that it would not injure Maine farmers, for we were selling the Canadians several times as much for produce as they sold us and paid their duties, which were about the same as ours; and surely we could hold our own if they were taken off on both sides. The treasurer of one of the largest pulp mills in New England said in the house of commons of my friends last year: "If the tariff should be taken off of pulp our business would be ruined." I said: "The tariff must either be a big liar or a big fool, for the duty was taken off of pulp under the Reciprocity Treaty 15 months ago and he does not seem to know it, or if he does know it he is trying to fool us, but we are not so ignorant as he thinks we are."

Senator Burleigh told me soon after the treaty was passed by us that he doubted if it would have any great injurious effect on our commerce. There is as much demand for our goods as ever, so our manufacturers can find no fault with the prices they are getting, and they will not have any cause to if all do as I did, in buying a suit of clothes. The dealer brought out a suit and said: "This is an imported suit," I replied, "I do not care for it, I believe in patronizing our home industries."

The new tariff law leaves a duty of ten cents a bushel on Canadian wheat as against as she places a duty on American wheat. Canada does not seem inclined to remove her duty. If she would, wheat could come in here free of duty. Canada will sell 50,000,000 bushels of her

When Will Belfast People Learn the Importance of It?

Rocky is only a simple thing at first; but if you find "tin" in the kidneys; that serious kidney troubles may follow; that dropsy or Bright's disease may be the final end.

You will be glad to know the following experience.

"This is the honest statement of a resident of this locality.

Mrs. S. B. St. Clair, 17 Trinity street, Rockland, Me., says: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they live up to all the claims made for them. They fixed me up in good shape when I was suffering from kidney trouble and at that time I fully recommended them. My kidneys were badly disordered and my bladder was inflamed. On consulting a doctor, he advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills, saying that he knew of nothing equal to them for such troubles. This remedy soon rid me of the complaint."

wheat in foreign markets this year in competition with American wheat. If we could bring in that wheat free of duty, our millers could buy millions of bushels of that wheat, grind it in American mills (which have the capacity to grind much more than our own crop) run by American laborers, furnishing millions of barrels of flour to be packed in barrels made by American coopers, transported to tidewater on American railroads to be shipped to foreign nations in American ships and leaving the profits in American hands, instead of having the work done by our competitors, as it now is.

Some shortsighted ones may say: "But this will compete with American wheat and reduce the price!" What a ridiculous idea to suppose that our millers would sell this in competition with their own product when they can obtain a larger price abroad. If our millers can buy up the Canadian surplus wheat and grind it into flour in our own mills they can dictate the price of flour abroad instead of having to compete as they now do with Canada, as they would then have it all in their own hands. The sooner we get this trade coming our way the better, for Canada will soon erect her own flour mills and grind her own wheat and then we will lose the trade forever.

Washington Whisperings.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9, 1914.

With the passing of Shelby Moore Cullum there is broken one of the very few remaining links that bind the present to the ante-bellum period of public life. He was a close friend of Lincoln when Lincoln was but a country lawyer in Springfield, Ill., and the friendships of boyhood held through the years that brought fame and high esteem to both the "Great Emancipator" and the man who began his political career as a city attorney in Springfield in 1855, coming to the House of Representatives in 1865 and continuing in public life until March of 1913, when he retired from the Senate of the United States with years and with honor to his credit.

Such a remarkable career, a long lifetime holding elective office of the highest public trust, is the highest testimonial of the trust and affection of the people; and that is not to be won save by deserving it.

No man of his generation—or rather of his three generations—had so wide an experience of public life as Shelby Moore Cullum and none knew more beautiful friendships and fewer enmities. And he died believing in the immortality of the soul.

A measure which, if passed by Congress and is signed by the President, will be of vital interest to the thousands of employees of the Bureau of Animal Industry scattered throughout the country, especially in meat packing centers or vicinity, is the bill which has been introduced by Representative C. O. Lobeck of Nebraska, providing for a reclassification of the salaries of these employees. Those affected by the bill will be the veterinary inspectors, meat inspectors, inspectors' assistants, stock examiners, skilled laborers and clerks employed by that big branch of Uncle Sam's government. Under it they will all receive higher salaries. The bill is before the Agricultural Committee of the House, and hearings upon it will be commenced within a short time. Members of Congress are being urged from all sections of the country, by friends of the employees, to work for the measure, as it is believed if the measure once reaches the floor of the House it will surely pass.

About 400,000 prairie dogs have been destroyed in the Cheetopa and the Pike National Forests of Colorado and the Tussayan and Coconino forests of Arizona, according to a report recently made by the Biological Survey of the Agricultural Department.

It is estimated that the amount of forage that these rodents feed upon would be sufficient to feed about 15,500 sheep or about 1,800 cattle which would be valued at $150,000. The cost of exterminating these pests of the prairies was about $12,000.

Last year the Biological Survey used 35,000 pounds of oats, 4,000 pounds of carbon bisulphide and about 1,800 ounces of strychnine in the Cheetopa Forests in the work of prairie dog destruction. The agents of the Survey prepare the poison, which is mixed with strychnine with a starch mucilage of about the consistency used in starching linen, and by applying this to the oats each kernel receives a film of poison starch.

No market for the hides of these prairie dogs has been found, in view of the fact that American and English furriers secure better skins from Siberia for five cents apiece which are much better adapted to be worked into gloves than are the American hides.

The U. of M. Musical Clubs.

ORONO, Me. Feb. 5. The University of Maine Musical Clubs will leave Feb. 12th for the first New York trip in the history of the university. Concerts will be given in Portland, Boston, New York and Brooklyn. Dates at Bideford, Hartford, Conn., Reading, Pa., and Albany, N. Y., are contemplated. The club this year contains a host of good material and have been exceptionally well drilled.

SWANVILLE.

Jane, widow of Z. L. Downs of Swanville, died in Searsport Feb. 8d, and was buried from the church in Swanville Feb. 9th. Rev. C. H. McElhenny preached the sermon and sang two selections. She was buried in Green Lawn cemetery. Mrs. H. F. Phillips went to East Belfast Sunday to care for Isaac Mason, who is seriously ill. Chief Ensign of the steamer Milnocket, was a guest at J. W. Nickerson's Sunday. Capt. Cleveland Downs and wife of Belfast were in town Thursday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Jane Downs.

WINTERPORT.

The Jolly Club of 12 met at Hillside farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sears E. Littlefield, Jan. 30th, the most beautiful day of the winter, with all the members present. A delicious chicken dinner and all the trimmings were served by the hostess to a dozen hungry mouths. The noon hour over, which was enjoyed for two hours. Mrs. Fred Lowe won first prize and Mrs. Elmer Clements the second prize. A program of reading and music was listened to. Mrs. Mary Bussey rendered the song, In the Harbor of Home Sweet Home, in her usual pleasing manner. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Campbell on Feb. 13th.

MONROE.

The officers-elect of Exra M. Billings, W. R. C., were installed Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 5th, by Belle J. Palmer, Past Dept. President, in a very impressive and pleasing manner. The officers were as follows: Pres., Mrs. Elmeda E. Bowen; S. V. Pres., Mrs. Caro Bussey; J. V. Pres., Mary H. Putnam; treasurer, Belle J. Palmer; chaplain, Mrs. Susie E. Dawson; secretary, Louise F. Larrabee; conductor, Mrs. Pearl Jewell; guard, Mrs. Betsey J. Colson. The Corps was much pleased to have Mrs. Palmer with them, as it had been four weeks since she was able to be out of doors. Following the installation a short program was carried out, which included select readings by Chaplain Dawson, President Bowen, Secretary Larrabee, and Conductor Jewell. After the closing of the Corps a short social was enjoyed.

SEARSMONT.

G. C. Rollerson has resigned his position as clerk in the store of V. A. Simmons & Co. to attend a commercial school in Lewiston. Mrs. H. P. Taylor visited in Bangor last week. The minstrel show given by the Appleton people in Dirigo hall, Thursday evening, February 5th, was first class and drew a full house. E. S. Wing and C. H. Cunningham attended the meeting of Aurora Lodge, F. & A. M., in Rockland by special invitation, Wednesday night, Feb. 4th. This was the official visit of D. M. G. Charles S. Wilson. Twenty-six lodges were represented and the W. M. degree worked on four candidates. Two hundred and fifty men sat down to a fine supper prepared and served by Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S. Mrs. John Levenseller and Mrs. Woodbury Davis are on the sick list. Mr. Eugene Jones has sold his business and gone to live with his son. Charles Richards takes the harbor business and will occupy the houses owned by C. Q. Brown.

MORRILL.

Mrs. Charles Meeservie is in Limerick, Maine, nursing her mother, who recently met with an accident. Mrs. Sadie Brewster of Belmont is spending a few days with Mrs. T. N. Pearson. Miss Annie Paul has returned from Farmington Normal school on account of ill health. A large delegation from Honesey Grange attended the county grange in Liberty Feb. 5th. The Ladies' Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Lottie Murch today, Thursday. It is a business meeting, as they are talking about building a hall and have chosen a committee to secure a site. Miss Flora Murch recently had a telephone installed in her home. Miss Flora Knowlton of Liberty is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Dow. D. O. Bowen, who has been ill the past month, was out to Sunday school last Sunday, much improved in health. Prof. W. S. Wright, who has been conducting a singing school here, will give a closing concert in the church Tuesday evening, Feb. 17th.

LIBERTY.

W. J. Knowlton left last week for a short business trip to Washington, D. C., where he has real estate interests. Mrs. Susan Norton, who has been visiting friends in Brooks and Brewer for the past few days, returned home Monday. Mrs. F. P. Bennett and daughters Eurania and Bernice went to Brooks last week and attended the K. of P. ball. Hon. L. C. Morse was a business visitor in Searsmont one day last week. George Cram went to Gardiner last week and bought a fine horse of W. S. Trask. Will Light and son Ernest of Washington were business callers in town one day last week. Walter Young has bought a new piano, which arrived last week from Portland. Mrs. Walter Knowlton, who is on the sick list, has had a phone put in her residence. W. J. Greeley was a business visitor in Gardiner for two days last week. The Waldo County Pomona Grange held its monthly meeting with Georges River Grange last Tuesday, with fully two hundred visiting patrons present. Mrs. Celia Nelson, member of Georges River Grange, in her usual pleasing manner, gave a fine address of welcome, which was responded to by O. B. Keen. The meeting was an interesting and profitable one. The next meeting will be held with Dirigo Grange, Freedom, March 4th. A regular meeting of Arbutus Chapter, O. E. S., will be held Monday eve, Feb. 9th. There will be work and refreshments.

NORTHPORT.

Clarence Martin, who has been living on the F. A. Abbott farm for the past three years, has bought from Osgood Woodbury his Oak Hill farm and moved his family there for a permanent residence. Mr. Martin is serving at the present time as engineer in Joel P. Wood's steam mill. Albert Toothaker has sold his farm in West Northport to Captain Fletcher of Belfast and he and his son plan on doing an extensive business on the farm. They bought it all stocked and equipped with cattle and farm machinery. Mr. Toothaker plans to run a store in Harvey Town, Swanville, where Mrs. Toothaker originally came from. E. L. Hills is having a park laid out on the west shore of Piche's pond, to be named Monterey Park. W. P. Greenlaw is doing the surveying and will make a large map of the survey and have it on file at the Waldo county registry of deeds office soon. Mr. Hill has already sold several lots in the park and it is expected that several new cottages will be erected there the coming spring. Stanley Hills has bought from his father 100 acres of the home place and plans to build a new set of buildings and develop a new farm. J. O. Hills met with a serious loss recently when his horse went out on a slippery place and fell breaking his hip in two places. Mr. Hills is remodeling his house inside, putting in new windows, building new cupboards and laying a hardwood floor. The Ladies' Aid met last week with Mrs. Mabel Beach. The society is making a number of quilts, which are quickly sold. M. G. Black has had several men chopping for him this winter and has hauled out a fine lot of logs and wood. His object is to make more and better pasturage. Mr. Black is one of the town's successful farmers.

SOUTHERN ISLAND.

George Colby, who has been chopping for G. S. Adams, has hired with V. A. Simmons & Co. and began work Monday. G. M. Hemen, who has been confined to the house for nearly two weeks with a grip cold, is again. Mrs. Olive Randall sold a horse recently to Huldah Ramsey of Center Montville. G. A. Sprague was quite badly injured recently. He received a gash on the forehead that required five stitches. The accident was caused by a runaway horse.

SWANVILLE CENTER.

Mrs. Fred Small and Mrs. Harry Gross of Searsport spent Tuesday with Mrs. Briggs. By the death of Mrs. Downs this town has lost another of its good reliable old people, and too few of that noble generation are left now. Mrs. E. A. Robertson is ill with the grip. The young people are enjoying the fine sliding and moonlight evenings. Quite a party of the younger people went to Brooks to the K. of P. hall and spent a grand time. Business is booming this winter in the country, as there has not been such a run of sledding for years. E. A. Robertson returned home from the Waldo County hospital last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nealley of Monroe were guests Sunday of W. M. Clements.

CENTER MONTVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Banks of Searsmont spent the day Feb. 5th with their brother, Mr. T. S. Erskine. Mr. and Mrs. Porter Allen went to Belfast for a few days' visit with his sister, Mrs. Ralph Carter. Harold P. Foster, who has been at work in Knox for several months, is at his father's, L. T. Foster, sick with the mumps. Miss Susie Walker is visiting her sister, Mrs. Orrie Morse. Mr. Volney Thompson was in Belfast Tuesday attending a County commissioner's meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Oramendel Morse called on Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bachelor last Sunday. Mrs. Bachelor's mother, Mrs. Baker of Searsmont, is stopping with her daughter for a few weeks. The selectmen are at their office this week finishing the accounts for the year. Town meeting will be the first Monday in March. The ladies of U. H. Grange will serve dinner in the grange dining room on that day and there will be a dance in the grange hall with an oyster supper that evening.

WHITE'S CORNER, (Winterport).

Mrs. Julia White is the guest of Mrs. George Bickford in Newburg for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Jewett visited at the home of Charles Page, in Jackson, Sunday. Mrs. A. J. Stanley of Bangor is the guest of Mrs. E. N. Bartlett the present week. Mrs. R. L. Clements spent Friday at the home of her brother, Fred Bardeen, in South Monroe. Several families from this vicinity attended the masquerade ball in Monroe Wednesday evening, Feb. 4th. It was the annual event of Monroe lodge of Odd Fellows. E. C. Clements, who was seriously ill for a week, is better at this writing. J. W. Jewett spent several days recently in Dixmont, Brewer and Old Town. Misses Louise Libby and Laura Bickford were at home from the Bangor High school for the week-end, and Marjella and Ellen Bartlett were at home from the village High school. Mrs. S. J. Fish was in Hampden and Bangor last Thursday and Friday and was accompanied home by Mrs. A. D. Gdnose, who had been in Waterville since the holidays. Margaret, the young daughter of L. E. White of West Winterport, was successfully operated upon for the removal of adenoids recently by Dr. Walton of Frankfort. Fred Bardeen of South Monroe visited at R. L. Clements Sunday. Miss Eva Cook of Monroe was a weekend guest at the home of C. W. Nealey.

FRANKFORT.

Mrs. John Peirce of New York city and Mrs. William Bagley of Annapolis, Md., are the guests of Hon. and Mrs. Albert Peirce at the Ide farm. The many friends here of Ralph W. Cook are extending congratulations on his marriage to Miss Marian Morgan of Winterport, which took place Wednesday morning, Feb. 4th, at St. Gabriel's Catholic church in Winterport. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cook left for Waterville, where they will reside. Jacob Clegg and Mark Snow have returned from Hallowell, where they have been employed by the Hallowell Granite Works for several months. Charles F. Drake has during the last few days shipped several carloads of potatoes to Boston markets. Robert McKay, who for several months has been visiting his brother, Victor McKay, on the latter's Montana ranch, is spending a few weeks with relatives at the Tyler home. Edward Foley and Herman Averill, who have been employed in Hallowell for several months, have returned to their homes here. Miss Mabel Neville, who has been teaching in Monroe, is spending the midwinter vacation at her home here. The Pythian Sisterhood was very pleasantly entertained Wednesday, Feb. 4, at the home of Mrs. Burton Batchelder in Prospect, an all-day session being held. John P. Otis, who for the past year has been employed in Concord, N. H., is at home for a visit.

Skin Sufferers Read!

We want all skin sufferers who have suffered for many years the tortures of disease and who have sought medical aid in vain, to read this.

We are the established druggists of this community, wish to recommend to you a product that has given many relief and may mean the end of your agony. The product is a mild, simple wash, not a patent medicine composed of various worthless drugs, but a scientific compound made of known antiseptic ingredients. It is made in the D.D.D. Laboratories of Chicago and is called the D.D.D. Prescription. It is a doctor's special prescription. This is a doctor's special prescription. One that has effected many wonderful cures.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS SYSTEM.

The exposition by Carter B. Keene, director of the Postal Savings System, of the work and results of the only banking institution owned and operated by the government, the savings system of the Postoffice Department, voiced at the annual banquet of the Bankers' Association of the District of Columbia, made a deeper impression upon the bankers of Washington, says the Daily Times of that city, than did the discussions of the new currency law, the President's trust messages or the attacks on the New York Stock Exchange. This is the opinion of many.

The statement by Mr. Keene that there are some $40,000,000 of deposits in the system, money that the banks could not have brought out; that all but 5 percent of this amount is now circulating in the channels of trade and that $200,000 of it is on deposit in the banks of Washington, was a surprise to many and won the approval of all for the system.

There are 375,000 depositors in the Postoffice Bank, explained Mr. Keene, and these depositors are foreigners and others whose money had been hoarded away in boot legs, stockings and mattresses. These depositors are people who have a natural fear of banks and who yet have an absolute confidence in the Government.

"This is newly discovered money," said Mr. Keene, "money beyond the reach of the banks. The Postal Savings System has brought it out from hidden corners and put it into the channels of trade. There is $200,000 of this money distributed among the banks of Washington which they could not have gotten otherwise."

"The Postal Savings System helps everyone and hurts no one and is a Governmental experiment in business that does in no way detract from private enterprise."

Mr. Keene explained that more money is turned away from the postal banks than is taken in in deposits for the reason that the amount of deposits is limited by law. He advocated legislation to do away with this restriction and to increase the maximum of deposits that may be received. In support of this contention Mr. Keene said that the foreigner who has saved an amount of money greater than the maximum he may deposit at any one time cannot understand why the Government will take and protect a part of his savings and refuse to touch the whole. There should be no need to try to make him understand, either, he said.

PINKLETS

To Clear the Complexion.

One result of constipation is to disfigure the complexion with pimples and blotches. This is because poisons which should have been expelled from the body are retained. Cosmetics and ointments will not avail to clear such a complexion. The poisons which cause the disfigurement must be removed as nature intended.

To do this a laxative that will gently assist nature, but which will not cause any acute constipation to aggravate the trouble, is needed.

Pinklets, the dainty new laxative, quickly clear away all offending matter without the least griping or discomfort. So simple is their composition that they can be taken with any other medicine that is not in itself a laxative. In every household such a mild and safe medicine is needed. Pinklets are tiny, sugar-coated granules, easy to take. Your own druggist can supply you. Sold in 25-cent bottles only.

Pinklets are a corrective for bad breath, will clear the complexion, and are recommended for torpid liver, biliousness, heartache, constipation and whenever a gentle laxative is required. Write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for Pinklet book. It is free.

STATE OF MAINE.
COUNTY OF WALDO, SS.

Taken on execution, wherein A. E. Nickerson of Portland, in the County of Cumberland, assignee of the estate of Edward C. Pike of Searsmont, in the County of Waldo, in said County, P. Ellis of Searsmont, in the County of Waldo, is defendant, and will be sold at public auction, on the 18th day of March, A. D. 1914, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of Harry E. Bangs, Searsmont, in said County, all the right in equity that the said Clifton P. Ellis had on the tenth day of December, 1913, when the same was attached on the original writ to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate situated in Searsmont Village, Maine, and bounded as follows: Lying on the corner of Main and Warren streets and bounded south by Main street and by Warren street, westerly by land of F. A. Nye and north by land of Gertrude Ellis, and containing one-eighth of an acre, more or less. Said real estate being subject to a mortgage given by the said Clifton P. Ellis to Frank E. Whitcomb & Son of Searsmont, Maine, recorded in Waldo County Registry of Deeds in Book No. 295, at Page 481, on which there is said to be due about thirty dollars.

Dated at Searsmont this 24th day of January, A. D. 1914.
ELMER WEBSTER,
Sw5 Deputy Sheriff.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE

WHEREAS, Mary F. Miles of Jersey City in the County of Hudson and State of New Jersey, by her mortgage deed dated the sixth day of September, 1898, and recorded in Waldo County Registry of Deeds, in Book Number 244, conveyed to George Sweetser a certain lot or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in Northport, in the County of Waldo and State of Maine, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Being lot No. 121 on the Northport Wesleyan Campground, situated on the southerly side of Maple street and said Campground and lying next westerly to the lot of F. A. Simpson; and whereas the said George Sweetser afterwards deceased, and George W. E. Barrows and Edmund J. Murch were duly appointed executors of said deceased, and the said George W. E. Barrows and Edmund J. Murch, as executors aforesaid, assigned said mortgage to the said George Sweetser; and whereas on the eighth day of October, 1901, the said George W. E. Barrows and Edmund J. Murch, as executors aforesaid, assigned said mortgage to the said George Sweetser; and whereas the condition of said mortgage has been broken:

Now, therefore, by reason of the breach of the condition thereof I claim a foreclosure of said mortgage.

SOME NAUTICAL LORE.

"As the World Wags," the department in the Boston Herald conducted by Philip Hale, occasionally takes a sea turn, and the contributions on this line are of more or less interest to those who go—perhaps we should say, have gone—"down to the sea in ships." For example "J. W." spins the following yarn of

A HERO OF THE SEA.

Having had a relative, an old sea dog, who for many years was captain of a well known clipper ship sailing between New York and Liverpool, I have naturally taken a deep interest in the communications of your nautical correspondents regarding the derivation of "three sheets in the wind," and similar terms. As a rule, it takes a seaman of the Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., persuasion to elucidate such matters, for the reason that your genuine tar is apt to be shy and uncommunicative, except when with his messmates. May I add that it has surprised me that no one has referred to that mine of sailor lore, by James Jefferys Roche, entitled: "A Sailor's Yarn."

"'Twas the good ship Gysacutus, All in the China seas, With the wind a lee, and the capstan free, To catch the summer breeze.

"'Twas Captain Porgie on the deck, To this mate in the mizen hatch, While the boatswain bold, in the forward hold, Was winding his harboard watch.

"Oh, how does the good ship head, tonight? How heave her gallant craft?" "Oh, she heads to the E. S. W. by N, And the binnacle lies abaft!"

"Oh, fly aloft to the garboard strake!" And reef the spanker boom, Bend a studding-sail on the martingale, To give her weather room."

The storm was so furious, and the sea ran so high, that the vessel sprung a leak; whereupon the noble second mate, taking the anchor on his back, dove overboard and struck out for the nearest land, where he made the mudhook fast and warped the ship ashore.

"'Twas much of a job to talk about, But a ticklish thing to see, And such'n to do, if I say it, too, For that second mate was me."

SING US A SONG.

Mr. Charles-Edward Aab contributes a song he found among his clippings, and Mr. Hale suggests that it might be sung at a banquet by the members of the Naval Staff Board:

The chap to skip on an ocean trip, And the sort to leave behind, With his driving sort of nautical lore, Is the garrulous, windy kind.

He can figure why, if you let him try— And you needn't ask at that— How one can tell from the captain's bell The time and where you're at.

Both starboard, port, and a lot of that sort Of junk you'd 'fain forget, He always knows, and the way "she blows," And why the water's wet.

If you sigh a speck from the hurricane deck, No matter what he may view, You'll find him there in a neighboring chair And you've got to bear him through.

So you have to hark to the seadog's bark, And you sing both small and low, Till you learn by a look at the purser's book He hails from Kokomo.
